

MAN HURT BY AUTO DIES OF HIS INJURIES

Chester Stooke Was Run Down
by Car at Easton and Spring

Last Friday.

Chester Stooke, 46 years old, of 3609 Cass avenue, died at the Baptist Hospital yesterday of a fractured skull suffered last Friday night when knocked down by an automobile driven by John H. Mobley, 39, of Mount Vernon, Ill.

Mobley was driving west in East street when he ran over Stooke, struck Stooke, who was crossing toward the south curb about 35 feet east of Spring avenue. He stopped, took the injured man to the hospital and surrendered to police.

With Stooke's death the total from motor vehicle accidents in St. Louis this year reached 96, as compared to 81 in the similar period last year.

Policeman, 65, Badly Injured

When Struck by an Auto.

Patrolman John Kettis, 65, walking his beat in the Newstead Police District at 11 p. m. yesterday, was struck by an automobile on East and Lindell boulevard by the automobile of Clarence R. Klein, an accountant, 3711 Gravois avenue, suffering a fractured left arm and leg, when he was struck. The policeman was crossing Newstead at the north side of Lindell. He and two witnesses said that Klein, driving north, disregarded the stop sign at the automatic traffic signal and was not driving slowly. Klein, who was charged with felonious wounding, careless driving and passing a "stop" signal, said that he was half way down the street before the sign changed from "go" to "traffic change." Patrolman Ketts resides at 4630 Kennerly avenue.

not in a position to permit objections to be raised for me with my consent.

Will Answer Through Press.

"I wanted an opportunity in open court to answer the charges of ignorance and bigotry which were made against me by Mr. Darrow yesterday. I realize that I will not now have this opportunity and I will make my answer through the press. I intend to do this, by publishing the questions which I would have asked Mr. Darrow if I had been allowed to put him on the witness stand."

Why, if you want to, we'll go out side with the press and you can ask me the questions," snorted Darrow.

"I ask your honor to call in this jury," cried Stewart in alarm.

"Let me say for the attorneys that I am not prepared to answer Malone stridently, that we will do so at any time, in any forum, to answer any question that Mr. Bryan is able to ask."

Insists Jury Be Called.

"Your honor, this is no place to discuss the plans for a joint debate. I insist that the jury be

"Yes, call the jury," Darrow seconded, "let's get through with this thing."

The jury was called and then Judge Raulston took a recess to

FRENCH SCIENTISTS PROTEST AGAINST DAYTON PROSECUTION
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, July 26.—Signatures of representatives of French scientists are being obtained by the newspaper Quotidien, to a protest against "the attack upon liberty of thought made by the Dayton prosecution." Among the signers are: Louis de Broglie, Curie, co-discoverer of radium; Dr. Paul Appell, former president of the University of Paris; Victor Alphonse Francois Aulard, professor of history of the University of Paris and an officer of the Legion of Honor; Prof. Paul Langevin of the department of Physics of the College of France, and Louis Lumiere, a member of the French Academy of Sciences and an officer of the Legion of Honor.

Nokol

is not forced to resort to low-grade fuels by inefficient operation

Few subjects call for as frank speaking as the use of low-grade oils in home heating. For we believe that every oil burner would burn a good grade of distillate if it could afford to.

For distillate is a standard product, dependable, easy to secure, and will always be plentiful. Low-grade fuel oil is not. In many cities oil companies refuse to deliver it for home use. It is gummy. It smells. It congeals in cold weather. It necessitates the application of hazardous pressure pumps on the oil line to break up the oil. It is incapable of rendering Nokol service. Every experienced oil burner manufacturer, every experienced oil burner user, every homeowner who appreciates the difference between hard and soft coal knows that the grade of oil suitable for home use is not the same as that commonly used to oil country roads.

Nokol makes and sells oil burners that burn the lowest grade of oil fuel. But not in the home. The home is not the place for low-grade oil. Nor has Nokol ever asked for the approval of any safety board to burn fuel unfit for domestic use in the home.

As a matter of fact low-grade oil makes very good summer sales talk and renders very poor winter service. Most oil burners which claim to burn low-grade oil usually end by burning Nokol fuel or distillate before the winter is over. If an oil burner claims to burn fuel oil make sure this is a winter fact and not a summer claim. And remember this: If the owner of a burner claiming to burn "cheap oil" should decide in midwinter that he must burn Nokol fuel to secure the type of service he wants, his fuel cost will be as much as 30 or 40% more than that of Nokol.

800 DRY AGENTS FIRED SINCE PROHIBITION

Mrs. Willebrandt Says Her Discovery of Graft Was Merely Incidental.

Post-Dispatch Bureau, 26-28 Wyatt Building.
WASHINGTON, July 21.—Mrs. Mabel W. Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General in charge of prohibition prosecution, said today she did not start out to gather information for Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews to be used in the selection of the personnel of his new dry organization, but to get data on which to formulate a program for quicker and better handling of cases in court. The facts about crooked prohibition agents were incidental.

More than 800 dry law agents have been dismissed since the Volstead act went into force. Many of them were charged with aiding bootleggers. A large force of detectives is always busy checking up on men in the prohibition service. The temptation to make money in a hurry is so great under the dry legislation that many men, with previous records for absolute honesty, yield. The size of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue show prohibition has proved a great incentive to corruption of public officials.

"Get Big Offenders First."
Mrs. Willebrandt refused to give out the reports that had reached her office. She said they were confidential facts for the good of the service and for effective enforcement. She did not intend any of them should be used by the press.

"I want all the information possible that will aid me in the prosecution of dry law cases," said Mrs. Willebrandt. "I shall co-operate with Gen. Andrews to the fullest extent possible. We want to get the big offenders first. I wrote the letter to the district attorneys some time ago and after hearing from them told Gen. Andrews that information that would be helpful to him would be turned over to him. I did not originate the movement to get crooks in the service."

To Prosecute the Dealers.
Mrs. Willebrandt will press the prosecutions against men and women who supply liquor to the bootleggers.

The Anti-Saloon League and the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church are worried over the present situation. They are supporting Andrews, but are afraid the results will not be as satisfactory as expected. The Methodist Board issued a statement today summing up the successes attained by Rev. A. Haynes and others who had charge of enforcement before his administration.

COUNTY HAS $2,498,876 BALANCE AS AVAILABLE FUNDS
$1,189,126 Amount for Fiscal Year and $1,309,750 Left From Previous Year.
St. Louis County revenue, for the fiscal year ending March 15, totaled $1,189,126.91, according to a financial statement filed yesterday with the County Court by County Clerk Tiffin. There was a balance of $1,309,750.66 left from the previous fiscal year, making a total available of $2,498,876.57. During the fiscal year expenditures totaled $1,491,481.49, leaving a balance on hand as of March 15 of $807,395.08.

The chief items in the list from which the revenue for the year was drawn were as follows: Current real estate taxes, $273,549.68; current personal taxes, $39,826.20; current road taxes, $258,005.81; current road construction fund taxes, $195,883.36; merchants' and manufacturers' license taxes, $13,112.23.

In the 27 funds carried upon the county books as separate accounts there were two deficits. That noted in the contingent fund account is $5870.58 while the road tax fund had a deficit of $32,825.92. There was $199,595.40 on hand in the road tax fund as of March 15, 1924, and $449,270.25 was received, making a total of $649,865.65. Against this total $672,701.72 was expended. The school fund began the year with a total of $215,266.67. Receipts of $257,470.91 brought the total to $472,737.58. Expenditures reached $545,310.47, leaving a total on hand of $327,427.11.

BOAT BLOWS UP, CREW LOST
Polish Torpedo Craft Sinks in Harbor at Danzig.

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, July 21.—The Polish torpedo boat Kaszub blew up and sank in the harbor of Danzig yesterday. The entire crew was lost. The Kaszub had just arrived in the harbor for repairs and was proceeding under its own steam when the explosion took place. No explanation is available as yet as to the cause.

U. S. Fleet Radio Signals Heard.
By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 21.—Low power, high frequency radio signals from the United States fleet at Honolulu, were heard during May and June consistently and clearly by amateurs at Johannesburg, South Africa, a distance equal to half the length around the world.

DAVIS EXPECTED TO FACE ATHLETICS IN FINAL OF SERIES TODAY VANCE F

Brownie Right-Hander Is Likely to Draw Harris as His Opponent on the Hill

Walberg Holds Sister's Men to Six Hits and Wins, 6-3, in Third Contest—Local Leader Has Batted Safely in 20 Straight Battles.

By Herman Wecke. In an effort to gain an even break with the league leading Philadelphia Athletics, George Sisler probably will send "Dixie" Davis to the hill in the final of the series this afternoon. Bryan "Slim" Harris, or Harris, as you please, is the probable flinging nominee for Connie Mack.

"Rube" Walberg, a left-hander, stopped the Browns in the third clash. Walberg was a great pitcher. He permitted but six safeties. As a result, the Athletics won, 6-3, in 3, and retained their scant hold on first place. It also made it certain that the Browns would not win the series from all four Eastern nines. New York, Washington and Boston had previously been defeated by the Browns.

That reverse at the hands of Walberg incidentally dropped the Browns to fifth place, a full game behind the White Sox and Tigers. It was the second time that Walberg has defeated the Browns at Sportsman's Park. And as on the first occasion, Joe Bush was the victim.

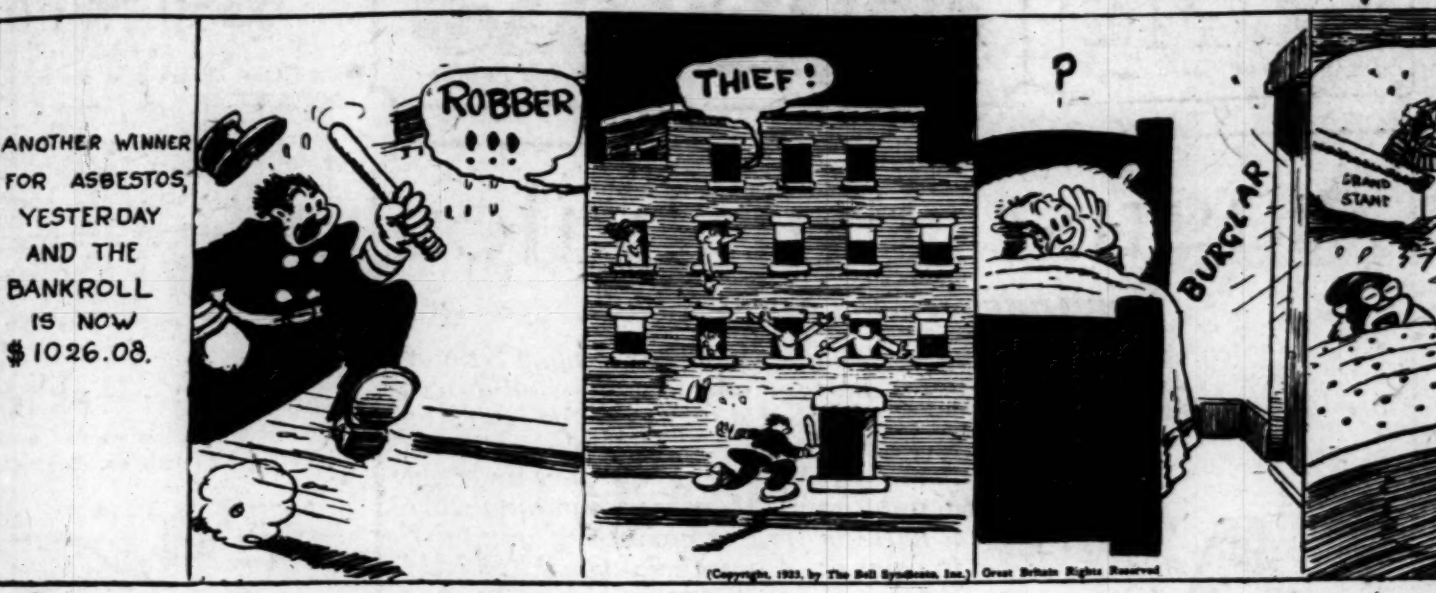

McManus Drives in Two. The former Milwaukee left-hander deserved victory. Whereas he yielded half a dozen safeties, Bush was found for 11, while he was on duty. He was yanked in the ninth, when the Browns' defense crumbled and the Mackmen put over four tallies to make victory certain.

Walberg started unsteadily. After two were out, Sisler smashed a hit off Third Baseman Smith and Williams walked. Then McManus clubbed one over Simmons' head for a triple and two runs were over. The safety for Sisler incidentally made the Browns' manager had hit safely. Those two runs matched the pair the Mackmen had pounded across in their portion of the round.

Thereafter, Walberg was complete master of the situation. The next hit off him was a single by Hargrave, with two out. In the fourth, Rice hit safely in the fifth, while the same player beat out a roller to Bishop in the eighth. Then, in the ninth, Williams hit into the right-field bleachers for his twenty-third homer of the season. That was the sum total of the Browns' attack against Mack's left-hander.

Local Defense Falters. Bush started badly. Bishop opened with a single. Lamar

St. Louis Teams May Again Enter Cup Competition

Need of Out-of-Town Games to Stimulate Interest Pointed Out at Soccer Meeting.

By Dent McKimming.

The distressing need for out-of-town competition to stimulate interest in local professional soccer has resulted in the formulation of two tentative plans, both of which were informally discussed at a meeting of soccer officials and newspaper representatives held at the North Hills Country Club last night.

One plan, suggested and fostered by Thomas W. Cahill, secretary of the American Soccer League, an Eastern professional organization, contemplates a Western league, in which teams representing St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit and Cleveland carry on a pennant race.

The other possible course is the re-entry of the four St. Louis professional clubs into the United States Football Association cup competition from which the local league withdrew a year ago.

Would Miss Early Rounds. This would mean that the local teams from all preliminary rounds, which would mean that no games would be played except with the first 32 clubs, eliminating the possibility of matches with weak teams, which in the past resulted in financial losses.

A compromise suggestion incorporating both the Western League and the United States Football Association cup competition, was advanced by several of those present and appeared to meet with approval.

No official action was taken on either point, but it was agreed by President Barker and Treasurer Riley that immediate steps should be taken to bring into conference representatives of the major soccer leagues of Chicago, Detroit, Cleveland and St. Louis to discuss terms and draw up a schedule of intercity games.

McGraw was discovered by Robert Conner, former New York Yankee and now owner of the St. Paul club, in 1916 while pitching for the Colorado Springs team at Boulder.

McGraw was in the army in 1917 and 1918 and returned to the Yankees in 1920. He was farmed out to the Newark club of the International League last year. Later he went to Vernon in the Coast League. He came to Minneapolis in 1922 and has been with the Millers since then. He never has fallen below the 100 mark in pitching.

RELIGIOUS FACTIONS IN TURMOIL OVER MANNER OF VILLA'S BURIAL

HONOLULU, July 21.—Disagreement between Filipino religious factions over memorial services for Pancho Villa, late world's flyweight boxing champion, have resulted in abandonment in part of the plans of the Methodists and protests against "religious interference" made by the Catholics.

The body of the Filipino fighter will arrive here Saturday en route to Manila. It had been planned to move the body ashore to the Filipino Methodist Mission for memorial services. This last plan, however, was abandoned.

Two memorial bids for Villa will be held Sunday. One will be in the Methodist Mission, the other in the Roman Catholic Cathedral where it is possible that a high requiem mass in charge of Bishop Stephen Alencaster, Vicar of the Apostolic Hawaiian diocese, will be sung.

TATE ACCEPTS OFFER TO BOX LUIS FIRPO

NEW YORK, July 21.—Bill Tate, negro heavyweight, yesterday accepted an offer to meet Luis Angel Firpo in a 12-round decision bout in Buenos Aires the first week of September, when the Argentine Prince of Wales will be visiting Argentina.

Tilden Complains That Critics Don't Credit Him for Winning, But "Alibi" for His Victims

Tendency Is to Declare Losing Opponents "Off Form"—"Class Will Tell and a Loser Plays as Well as Winner Lets Him," Champion Adds.

By William T. Tilden II.

Tennis is a game where class will tell in a vast majority of matches. Luck or some outside influence will swing individual matches now and again, but in the long run class will tell.

Most players play true to their class in nine out of 10 matches in which they compete. When a player is "off form," as the critics say, he is usually facing a man who, by his game, puts the victim "off form" on that day.

There are factors that will play a player, especially a good one. "Off form" bad courts, poor light, high wind, slippery footing, all affect the better player more detrimentally than the poorer, because his game is built on a scale of more skill and less luck, more science and less chance, so that his margin of safety is less on each shot.

It seems to me as I glance back over the accounts of my matches that I have been comfortable but I never beat a good tennis player who was playing his game in all my life.

Why should not the victor be given credit for his victory rather than the loser "alibi" out of trouble by the comfortable but I never beat a good tennis player who was playing his game in all my life.

Johnny Dundee Still a Master

Veteran Displays Old-Time Skill and Speed Against Johnny Leonard.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 21.—Johnny Dundee outpointed Allentown Johnny Leonard in 10 rounds in one of the most brilliant efforts of his whole career at the Queens stadium, last night. Leonard did not land five solid blows on this still great fighter.

Dundee dropped Leonard cleanly with a right to the jaw right at the start and the crowd went wild. Leonard bobbed up quickly and Dundee went after him, trying for one of his rare knockouts. Leonard skinned through without further mishap in that round. In the second round Dundee brought the blood from Leonard's nose.

Veteran Retains His Speed. Leonard cut loose for all he was worth in the third but the old stager was too nimble for him. Dundee raised a great mouse under Leonard's right eye in the fourth. His boxing was amazing. Round after round he kept piling up a score.

Failure to Trim Westerners May Beat Washington

Athletics Have Had More Successes in Inter-Sectional Tilts Than Champions.

By John B. Foster. A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. (Copyright, 1925.)

NEW YORK, July 21.—Should Washington lose out in the pennant race this season, more than likely it will be one of those "pestiferous Western teams," as Bill Donovan used to call them, that will upset the senatorial cart. The same thing may prove true with respect to Philadelphia, but Washington is being confronted a little earlier than its rival with the danger signal because to date the Westerners have made more trouble for Washington than for the Athletics.

The margin of success of one of the Eastern leaders against the West, as compared with that of the other Eastern leader, is small, but it is in Philadelphia's favor. The Athletics have won 11 of 12 games against the West, while the Senators have won 8 of 12.

Senators Should Pick Up. The difference between the leaders in the American League race when the final compilation is made is not likely to be more than five games at the most. Off-hand, considering the relative standings today, five games seems a very liberal estimate. It is likely to stand unless either Washington or Philadelphia cracks completely, or one or the other is riddled by injuries.

Both Washington and Philadelphia will do about alike against Boston in all probability, and as Washington has a little more Boston bashing than Philadelphia has, the chances are that the Senators will pick up in that quarter.

On general principles, Washington may also get a little better of the remaining exchanges with New York. On that basis the American League race is almost certain to be decided on relative successes in the West—that and success in the inter-leader series.

Tigers Stop Champions. The unusual part of it is that the Western teams have not been playing with the success they have had in some past years against the league leaders. Washington has been thrashing them a bit harder than the Yankees and other leaders were wont to do in years gone by, but, despite that fact, they haven't been able to get away with as much success in that quarter as the Athletics have.

That shows how much of a team this Athletic aggregation is. If it can play a trifle better against the Western half than Washington, and Washington is playing better against the West than some championship teams have played, the Athletics cannot be the aggregation of false alarms that they were pictured before the season began.

Take the Detroit team in particular, whether the Tigers win the pennant or not, they may beat the Washingtons out of one, and Washington had better ride its tallest elephant whenever it goes out for a Tiger hunt.

American Track Men Are Victors

Evans Breaks Irish Record in 100-Yard Dash—Osborne Takes Jump.

By the Associated Press. DUBLIN, July 21.—The team of American athletes competing for the Illinois Athletic Club won the relay race and many individual events in the athletic contests which concluded here yesterday.

Harold Osborne, although competing with a bandaged ankle, won the open high jump with six feet 2 inches. George T. Stevenson won the quarter-mile run from Lavan, the Irish champion. H. T. Evans Jr. broke the Irish record for 100 yards by one-tenth of a second, going the distance in 13.9-10ths. Herbert Schwarz won the shot putt and T. W. Johns took the pole vault and the broad jump. Ivan H. Riley won the hurdles race.

Dodgers, Desperate Work, Lost but for

Hornsby's Men Would Have Won. McLaughlin Called Ford Sa Team's President

By J. Roy. Of the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, July 21.—When drives in three of his team's four that produces the fourth run, it is ill-fated to try to dim the man's terribly unfair decision to give him brilliant deeds.

And yet that's what happened to Dazzy Vance, who beat the Cardinals yesterday afternoon in the final game of the Knot-Holers' series in Brooklyn.

Vance struck out 17 Cardinals. He made the mighty Rogers Hornsby fan the breeze three times. Vance did it from the bottom, another searing batmit, take three away in vain. Three times Bob O'Farrell struck out. And in spite of the mastery of Vance's curve ball and speed over the Cardinals, they would have beaten him to 2, if it had not been for that decision, an unfortunate thing, which kept the men of Hornsby up late last night, swearing and fretting and fuming and heaping maledictions on the head of one Peter McLaughlin, who according to allegations in the position is an umpire.

It is not good sportsmanship to pick on an umpire. That is it would not be good sportsmanship to pick on a good umpire. But there being no good umpire, Mr. McLaughlin can be picked on in this particular instance. If a decision which kept him, pushed the Cardinals out of third place is not just one for loud and tearful complaint and for lengthy criticism of Peter McLaughlin's one big decision, then Dayton, Tenn., is the seat of learning and broad minds.

Enter Mr. McLaughlin. The score was tied when the play gave McLaughlin his chance to pull a William Jennings Bryan. Egan, having made two good plays, Dazzy Vance and Walter Mails were engaged in as beautiful a hurling duel as ever had been seen. Then Vance, who previously had made a home run, one of his five or six hits of the season, singled sharply to left to start the Brooklyn half of the eighth inning.

Horace Ford forced Vance at second and then came Milton Stock, former Cardinal. Stock slammed a double down the left field line. This was a tight ball game and Horace Ford was exulted by coaches to try to score on the hit as chances to score had been few and far between. He tried to tempt to score, but meantime Chick Hafey, recently recalled from Syracuse, had retrieved the ball and thrown it right accurately to George Toporcer. Toporcer took a double down the left field line and called the ball for the plate.

Bob O'Farrell took the throw at the plate. Now O'Farrell is a daring young catcher. One reason that he has been catching all or most of the games for the Cardinals is that he doesn't give a rap for all the flashing spikes in the world. And when he took Toporcer's throw he threw down his hands to meet the snarling spikes of Horace Ford. Horace slid, but O'Farrell was under him as he came down. O'Farrell was under him with the ball. It was one of those wide-open plays. O'Farrell had the ball before Ford started his final desperate leap and the play was so apparent that yells of disapproval arose from the stands when McLaughlin spread his palms down, indicating that Ford was safe.

The fans were eager for the Dodgers to break their losing streak. They wanted to see Vance win. Dazzy is their hero. But as the score board boy said—and nobody is more partisan than a score board boy—"I don't want Dazzy to never win no game like that. It's a burglary."

Even Robinson Admits Ump's Error. That was the general trend of the tenor of the President William McLaughlin, who saw the play, told Rogers Hornsby after the game that the umpire had missed the play, that Ford had been out. Perhaps McLaughlin felt that he had made an unfortunate decision. If he had felt that he was in the

GIRLS! USE LEMON TO WHITEN SKIN

The only harmless way to bleach the skin white is to mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug-gist will supply for a few cents. Shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quart-pint of the most wonderful skin whitener, softener and beautifier.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon bleach into the face, neck, arms and hands. It cannot irritate. Famous stage beauties use it to bring that clear, youthful skin and rosy-white complexion; also as a freckle, sun-burn and tan bleach. You must mix this remarkable lotion yourself. It cannot be bought ready to use because it acts best immediately after it is prepared.

Korean Flood Reports Exaggerated
By Associated Press
TOKIO, July 21.—While the Japanese newspapers publish reports that more than a thousand persons were drowned in the floods which occurred in Central and Southern Korea last week, official Government reports declare these figures greatly exaggerated, adding that it is impossible yet to obtain an accurate estimate of the casualties.

MRS. THAW SUES FOR $600,000 SHE GAVE GRANDSON

Complaint Alleges Gift
Was Coaxed From Her
Jan. 6 Last, While She Was Ill.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 21.—Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, 53 years old, mother of Harry K. Thaw, has filed suit for $600,000 in United States District Court here against Lawrence Copley Thaw, her grandson.

She charges that young Thaw, son of the late Edward Thaw and nephew of Harry Kendall Thaw, in violation of trust and confidence, induced her to give him $600,000, Jan. 6, last, on the representation he had been discriminated against unjustly in the making of his father's will.

In the complaint, filed late yesterday, Mrs. Thaw, who is at her home in Pittsburgh, requested appointment of a receiver to take possession of the gift she now seeks to recover. She sets forth her grandson has refused to return it to her.

She also asks he be ordered to account to her for the income he has received from his money.

Lawrence Copley Thaw is connected with the investment firm of Wood, Struthers & Co., a member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Allegations in Complaint.
The complaint, subscribed to in the unsteady, feeble script of old age, declares that young Thaw, as an employee of Wood, Struthers & Co., advised his grandmother regarding arrangements for the sale of certain securities held by her and reinvestment of the funds thus obtained.

During last December and January, it continues, Mrs. Thaw was ill. It continues she was in a critical condition and confined to her bed from Dec. 10 to Jan. 7; that she was frequently unconscious and in a state of stupor for days—"weak in mind and body and easily influenced."

"In violation of trust and confidence and in spite of her infirmities," the complaint goes on, "the defendant, by persistent discussion and by untrue and partly true statements, induced her to believe defendant had been unfairly discriminated against in his father's will."

It added that Mrs. Thaw also had been led to believe the amount the young man would receive from his father's estate "would be inadequate for his legitimate uses and business needs."

Through these methods, she says, she was on Jan. 6 "induced to sell a considerable amount of stock and make a gift of $600,000 to the defendant, which gift he refuses to return."

"Played Upon Her Sympathy."
At Pittsburgh, United States Senator David A. Reed, of counsel for Mrs. Thaw, declared the complaint filed here "covers every fact in the case." He charged that over a period of two months, while Mrs. Thaw was ill, the grandson played upon her sympathy and "chapered" upon the plea that he was poor and in debt and had been badly treated by his father.

No complete information could be obtained regarding the size of the estate of Edward Thaw. He was the son of Mary Copley Thaw and William Thaw, who died in 1899.

Edward died in 1924. His will was admitted to probate in Pittsburgh July 2, 1924. At that time the income from his estate was estimated at $250,000 a year. The bulk of his fortune, according to newspaper accounts printed at the time, went to his second wife and to a son, Edward Thaw Jr. An outright bequest of $50,000 was made Lawrence Copley Thaw.

Agreement Mentioned in Will.
The will referred to an agreement entered into between Edward Thaw and his first wife, Frieda Marsh Thaw, in 1905, the arrangement providing for support and maintenance of Lawrence Copley Thaw. Mrs. Frieda Thaw, who divorced her husband and twice remarried, died in 1915.

Newspaper files show that the Title Guarantee and Trust Co., as trustee for a $450,000 fund created by Edward Thaw for the benefit of Mrs. Frieda Marsh Thaw, filed an accounting in 1916 showing a decrease in the fund of $2845. It could not be learned last night whether this was the fund referred to in the Edward Thaw will as reason for leaving Lawrence Copley Thaw no more than $50,000.

Young Thaw married April 27, 1924, Miss Margaret Ludlow Stout, Spence School graduate and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Marvin Stout of 147 West Fifty-ninth street. Mrs. Thaw is a member of the Junior League and has danced at many affairs for charity. Her husband served with the French chausseurs before the United States entered the war and later became a Lieutenant in the United States infantry.

BIBLE STORY OF NOT DENIED BY THEOLOGICAL

Dean of Chicago U.
Genesis Sets Forth
Science Gives

By the Associated Press.
DAYTON, Tenn., July 21.—"Correct understanding of Genesis shows that its account of creation is no more denied by evolution than it is by the laws of light, electricity and gravitation," said a statement of Shailer Matthews, dean of the divinity school of the University of Chicago, read into the record of the Scopes trial. It was one of the statements by eminent theologians submitted by the defense for the record.

"The Bible deals with religion. There are two accounts in Genesis of the creation of man. They are not identical and at points differ widely. It would be difficult to say which is the teaching of the Bible. The aim of both, however, is clear and wonderfully inspired."

"Each shows that God created man and how man differs from beasts in resembling God, in that he possesses a moral and spiritual nature."

"In the first account in Genesis it is said that God made beasts, cattle and all creeping things by having the earth bring them forth as living creatures. The Hebrew expression here used 'nephesh chayah,' is the same as that used in the second chapter of Genesis to describe man when created."

Man a Living Soul.

"The first story then continues with the creation by God of man in the divine image, male and female being created on the sixth day. In the second account God is said to have formed man from the dust of the ground and to have breathed into him the breath of life."

"Man thus became a living soul. In the Hebrew the same word is used as that previously used to describe the animals which the earth brought forth."

"This living creature, Adam, is placed by God in a garden which he is to till. He is forbidden to eat of the tree of knowledge of good and evil. He, however, disobeys and eats the fruit. God then declares that man has become 'one of us, knowing good and evil.'"

"Genesis thus says that an animal life, produced by God from the earth by His spirit came from the God through a development born of experience. Thus, so far from opposing the Genesis account of the creation of man, the theory of evolution in some degree resembles it."

Genesis Doesn't Teach Science.

"But the book of Genesis is not intended to teach science, but to teach the activity of God in nature and the spiritual value of man. It is a religious interpretation of nature and God's relation thereto, in which the inspired writers used the best of the then current knowledge of the universe to show how God was in the creative process and how that process culminated in man possessed of both animal and divine elements."

"The theory of evolution is an attempt to explain the process in detail. It does not take place in a vacuum, but in an environment in which God. Genesis and evolution are complementary to each other. Genesis emphasizing the divine fifth cause and science the details of the process through which God works. This view that evolution is not contrary to Genesis is held by many conservative evangelists, such as Strong, Hall, Micou, Harris and Johnson. Mullins also holds to a theistic evolution."

No Such Thing as "The Bible."

"These Bibles were placed in the court record."

Arthur Garfield Hays, New York attorney, has constantly held before the court that the word "Bible" in the Tennessee antievolution statute was vague and indefinite. His insistence that the State must

ACCEPTANCE OF FORD'S BID FOR SHIPS RECOMMENDED

Manufacturer Has Offered $1,700,000 for 200 Shipping Board Vessels.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 21.—Acceptance of the Henry Ford bid of $1,700,000 for the 200 Shipping Board vessels set aside for scrapping has been recommended to the Shipping Board by President Palmer of the Fleet Corporation.

Recommendations "are that the board will approve the recommendations. The general counsel has held the proceedings of the fleet corporation legal, although the Boston Iron and Metal Co. of Baltimore protested it was irregular."

The Baltimore company was the highest bidder when the original bids were opened June 26, its offer being $1,370,000, but this was rejected by the board.

President Palmer had urged acceptance and new offers were called for to be opened July 20.

The Baltimore company then withdrew its offer.

It is the intention of Ford to keep most of the 200 ships but he will retain some for conversion to engine propulsion in salt water transportation. He will also keep some of the engines and other

THE POST-DISPATCH PLAT-FORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Traffic Regulations.

YOUR editorial in your issue of July 17, 1925, relative to parking regulations, is timely and to the point; your reference to bureaucratic rule especially so. But I am surprised that you failed to condemn the bureaucratic rule of the police, called "police regulations," which have no more legal backing than have the extra judicial assumptions of the Traffic Council. Was this an oversight, or is it your opinion that the police should have extra territorial (sic) rights, handling traffic and in other ways, not allowed other agencies, just because they happen to have a measure of authority as police?

Now, here is the status of traffic (and parking) regulations: All regulations are created and adopted, no matter from what agency they emanate, are more in the interest of the vehicle than in that of the pedestrian, the weakest and least able to care for himself, whereas it should be the other way about. The pedestrian's safety should be the first consideration (no matter at what inconvenience to speedy vehicle traffic), until street and parking capacity is made adequate for both pedestrian and speedy vehicle traffic.

Just as long as speedy vehicles are allowed to go at a speed greater than is safe for pedestrians on streets which never were constructed nor intended to be used at the excessive speed of today, and which lack capacity for such vehicles, just as long will life and limb be endangered by such vehicles, no matter how stringent be the regulations, nor how well enforced.

And congestion in the downtown streets cannot be remedied by such "regulations" and parking rules as are now in force, nor by any other regulations and rules as long as street capacity and parking space is not adequate to meet present and future needs, something which seems to be far in the future, judging by the feeble efforts of today to increase them.

"CAVEAT"

The City Infirmary.

IN reply to letter in your paper July 17, signed Grandpa, wish to correct some of those charges with regard to "Grandpa's" who know all about other courtesans, but the writer only knows one—the City Infirmary—and that one is what the people and taxpayers are interested in here.

I was sent out from the city hospital in a condition deserving pity, almost helpless, but in a year's time recovered so that I was able to do some light work. I never was ordered to do work or even asked to do anything that would interfere with my recovery and never heard of a case where it had been done.

"Grandpa" said the place looks nice. That's true; but he spoke of poor old men and women begging for just one pore crust of bread. That is not true here. We all have plenty of good bread and butter twice each day, a reasonable amount of milk, in fact, the writer prefers the food served here to that in the city hospital.

I found an atmosphere of Christian kindness. The matron, Mrs. Dr. Chas. Baur, demands kind treatment from all employees and was to the offender who violates her orders.

The writer is not defending the management of this place because he got honey for his biscuits or was granted any special favors; in fact, never asked for any. What others got was good enough for me. SQUARE DEAL.

Woman Needed at Home.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE POST-DISPATCH:
I READ the letter from a woman signed "Equality Always" and it urged me to say something in behalf of married women who are seeking employment. In looking around I find that every woman has plenty of work to do at home, where the married woman belongs. Let the man be the bread earner and the wife a mother and housekeeper. When I meet a woman who is the mother of eight or ten children I look upon her as a treasure, someone the world has to admire, and that woman is always a cheerful person. She lives for her home and the love of a husband. Is there a man who will admit he has more respect for the married business woman than for a married real mother?

Let us have less worldliness and give us the large families which are causing to be. There is nothing sweet, soft or gentle about a woman who wants "equality of men," and a real mother looks with scorn upon the married woman worker—and pity for the poor weakling who is married to her—for who can admire a man who permits his wife to work?

Married women are working and their mother-minding the children; and such a woman will tell you: "We could not afford a machine" or some other extravagance, if she remained at home. The grandmother is doing an injustice to the children.

What we need most is real mothers who stay at home and rear a family, and that is the place where a woman is happiest regardless of what she may say.

A MOTHER.

MILLER'S DODGING APOLOGISTS.

The apologists of Mayor Miller beg the question and dodge the issue, in the Hertenstein case. They draw hither and yonder across the trail.

These apologists dwell persistently on the alleged sins of Mayor Kiel. They point out that Rogers resigned in disagreement with the Mayor, and Hertenstein was appointed. In the face of Hertenstein's unqualified statement that Mayor Kiel never interfered with the efficiency system, they charge, without an iota of evidence, that Kiel worked the Efficiency Board to pack the payrolls.

All of this is to draw public attention away from the offenses of Mayor Miller. But suppose that Mayor Kiel did offend, did violate the charter, what excuse does that offer for Mayor Miller? Assuming that Mayor Kiel offended in ignoring the charter and building up a personal machine in the classified service, is the virtuous embodiment of righteous government, proclaimed as the defender of the charter and champion of law enforcement, the exemplar of clean, anti-machine administration, to follow in his predecessor's footsteps?

The people of St. Louis were given to understand that Mayor Miller would reverse all the misdoings of his predecessors, would support every provision of the charter, and enforce all laws to the letter. We understood that he was the uncompromising antagonist of political machines; that all faithful, efficient employees would be retained, and none but men devoted to the charter, obedient to the laws and faithful to duty and the public welfare would be appointed to office and place.

We understood that every municipal officer and employee was compelled to read the charter, and to read and study the Mayor's platform, which pledged undying devotion to the charter and the laws and unwavering opposition to political machines. Mr. Hertenstein seems to have followed this instruction too well. Evidently he read the charter, but there is an utter lack of evidence in Mayor Miller's conduct that he knows anything about the charter. To the contrary, he is either ignorant of it, or is defiantly contemptuous of its efficiency provisions.

The afternoon organ of the Mayor offers the laughable explanation that the Mayor is cleaning up the City Hall, including the classified service, which is protected by the charter, in order to destroy the old machine. It assumes that he will not build up another machine. But his faith in this assumption is so weak that it adds a prayer, with a fervent wish and urgent advice, that he refrain from doing this villainous thing. In its opinion apparently official lawlessness is justified when the righteous Miller, for his own righteous purposes, is guilty.

The apologists assault the motives of Mr. Hertenstein. They hint at ulterior motives, a conspiracy, to injure the Mayor. Everybody who opposes or exposes or criticizes Mayor Miller is a villain, with base motives to obstruct and destroy good government. Miller alone is righteous, and embodies good government.

Mr. Hertenstein, however, resigned, gave up his office and his pay, as a protest against the evident intention and attempt of Mayor Miller to violate the charter and make the Efficiency Board the instrument for building up his personal machine. Mr. Hertenstein supplies the evidence of the Mayor's intent and attempt. He offers the Mayor's own letters and his dotted lists as proof of his attempt.

Mayor Miller's apologists and defenders—he himself is silent—utterly ignore the evidence. They haven't a word to say about the Mayor's own letters with lists of persons he wants appointed through the Efficiency Board, and those significant dots. Those dots tell the whole story. They are the code by which the wishes of the Mayor are to be interpreted by his subordinates. The three-dot men are faithful Miller men, to be taken care of at any cost of lawless invasion of the charter and of justice and decency towards other officeholders and applicants.

If the Mayor's purposes are righteous, regardless of the violation of the charter and the deadly blow at the efficiency system, why the code? Why the dots? Why the concealment of his intent in a sneaking code known only to his subordinates?

The issue is simple. The evidence is clear. Mayor Miller has broken his promises to the employees in the classified service. He has violated the charter. He has broken all his pledges to support the charter. He is perverting the efficiency system, designed to place service in the municipal government on a merit basis, to build up his own personal political machine. The efficiency system is a part of the charter. It was voted into the charter by the people. It was one of the main points in favor of the charter. It was designed to prevent the overturn of all employees at the City Hall by a Mayor or a boss of any kind.

What others may have done with regard to the fundamental law of the city has nothing to do with the case of Miller. What he is doing is the sole point to be considered. What his intent and purpose are is clear from the letter of Mr. Hertenstein and the Mayor's own dotted letters. He is lawlessly dismissing faithful employees under the classified service, and discriminating in the appointment of applicants for that service, in defiant violation of the charter provisions and their object. He is putting only Miller men in office. If that is not building up a political machine we do not know the meaning of the words.

A letter from President Wilson read at the Scopes trial proclaims his belief in evolution. Will Senator Reed, Senator H. Johnson, Senator Moses and the others of the grisly "Battalion of Death" now go fundamentalist?

COMMON SENSE ON ARMAMENTS.

In Great Britain we find the same elements of opinion with regard to heavy or light national armaments which we have in the United States. Notably there is the element whose sole theory of national defense is to maintain a navy competent to defend the empire against any imaginable contingency regardless of the remoteness of the probabilities. The ultimate platform of these people is that you must be prepared for an instant attack by the combined foreign world.

It is not the pacifist extremists who block the chimerical and ruinous programs of the big armament party. It is simply the default of the large mass of people who cannot be aroused by foolish alarmist pictures of a hostile world controlled not by the probabilities or by common sense but by a foolish hypothesis of physical possibility. The British Admiralty is calling for a five-year building program to include a large fleet of fast cruisers to cost from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 each and a replacement program permissible under the Washington conference pact. Lloyd George has epitomized public sentiment in reply to this proposal in the catch phrase: "What we want at this moment is not fast cruisers but slow spenders." The British have several reasons for not yielding to the demand for maximum armaments. Among these are the destruction of the German navy, the pending security pact, the Washington conference agreement and national economy. It is encouraging to note that public opinion has chosen the side of common sense.

A TIMELY ACT.

All that remains of our share of the Boxer indemnity, i. e. $6,137,552, has been remitted and will be used for educational and allied purposes in China. President Coolidge's executive order, dated July 16, is based upon Congressional authority granted him in May, 1924, and in keeping with the policy toward the Boxer fund made years ago. While Mr. Coolidge had nothing whatever to do with the disposition of the fund, his order being merely a formality, his action has the virtue of timeliness.

The events growing out of the bloody days of 1900, when the secret Chinese society known as "Boxers" revolted against foreigners and murdered Christian missionaries, redound to the lasting credit of the United States. Without condoning the Boxers' deeds, the United States' influence was used to prevent the foreign Powers from taking a revenge vastly out of proportion to those deeds. The danger of China's dismemberment, and the giving over to predatory foreigners of the parts, was successfully resisted by us.

Moreover, the inordinate cash indemnity of $735,000,000 demanded by the Powers was reduced through the intercession of the United States to $337,500,000. Our share of this sum was used to pay damage claims made by the Boxer rioters. After this was done, the sum of $13,000,000 remained. Rather than accept this blood money, the United States decided to pay it back to China for educational purposes, the expenditure to be supervised by a board of Chinese and American citizens.

One notable use to which it has been put is the financing of Chinese students, chosen by competitive examinations, who wish to come to the United States to be educated. Such good work as this will be continued until the fund is exhausted.

Quite naturally, the memory of the Boxer trouble evokes pleasant memories in China of the role played by this country, and gives to us a prestige and influence not possessed by any other nation. The news that the remainder of our share of the indemnity is being remitted will be well received just now when China is running hot with anti-foreign emotions. It is followed by our leadership in the application of the Nine-Power treaty, the fire will be extracted from the present feeling of dissatisfaction and revolt.

A FIVE-DAY WORK WEEK.

Reginald Pelham Bolton, president of the Electric Meter Corporation, will be hailed as an economic wonder by the tolling millions who would be benefited by the general adoption of the five-day working week he advocates as the summer standard. He tried it in his own branch of industry last summer, with the understanding that there should be no falling off in the quantity or quality of the output. Five and a half days' work was to be done in five. It was done, and the full Saturday holiday was earned without any setback.

An investigation by the New York World shows that the idea is being adopted by a growing number of industrial and commercial concerns. It has been put in practice in several St. Louis retail houses. And there appears to be no tendency to go back to the longer week schedule.

It is to be noted that up to the present time what are known as "white collar" workers are the chief beneficiaries of the new movement. The problem now is how to extend it to the general body of "blue collar" workers, many of whom do the hardest drudgery of the world's work and some of whom, under present conditions, do not even enjoy one rest day in the seven. The solution of this problem will have to be considered by the leaders in industry and labor, if we are to avoid the dissatisfaction that will arise from the contemplation of a part of the workers enjoying holidays while the remainder toil without relief.

HOOVER'S INFALLIBILITY.

Far be it from us to question Herbert Hoover's infallibility on all business and commercial subjects, and when he says this country is now bursting with prosperity, we are readily credulous. But there is one body of men who would like to know where he gets that stuff, namely, 30,000 Massachusetts woolen workers whose pay has just been reduced 10 per cent.

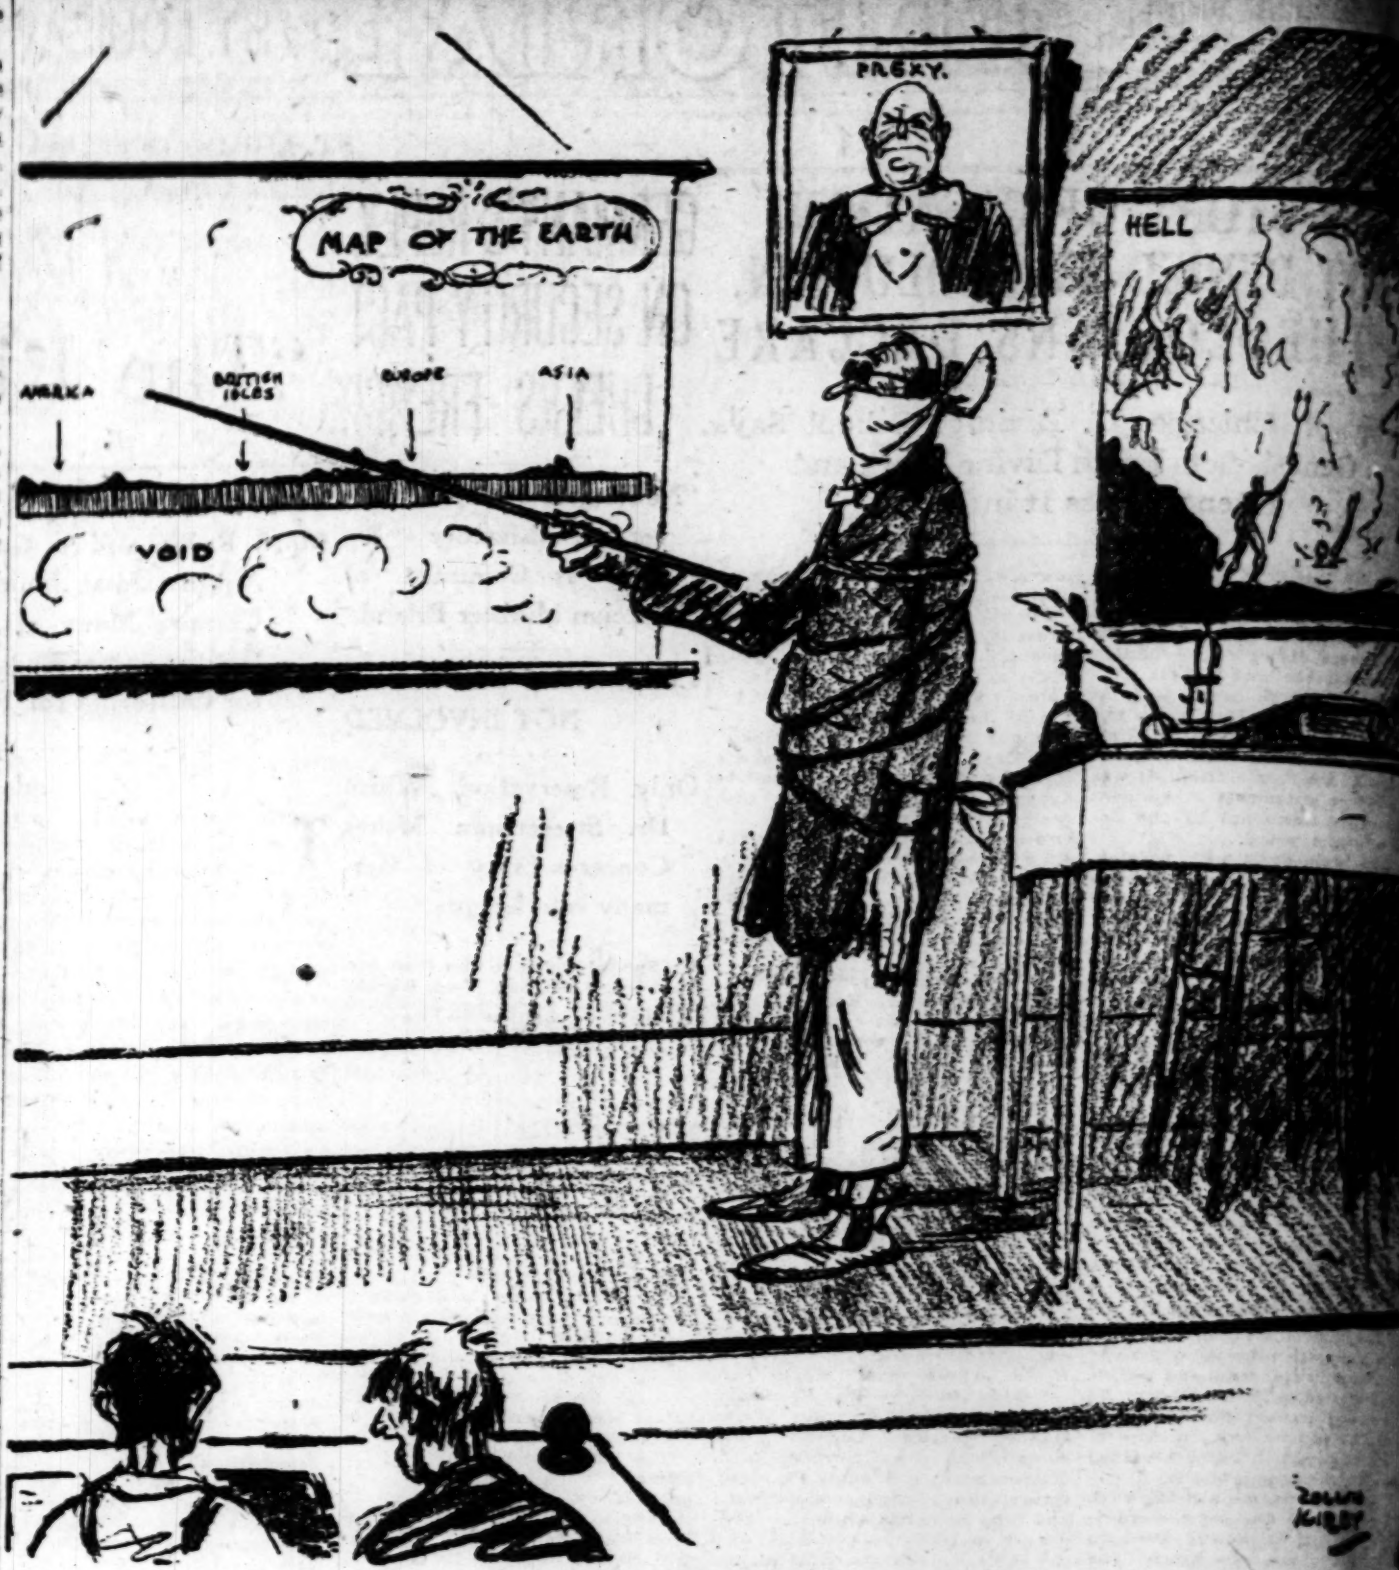

MAINE BANS THE BILLBOARDS.

It will be lonesome, motoring through Maine, now. State troopers have torn up all the billboards under an act of Legislature. What will a tour be without them? That stretch of road will be right out in open country, and Maine motorists will never know how "They Satisfy." This turn will seem a naked thing, unbanked by advertisements of "That Youthful Complexion." No more can tourists carry with them the atmosphere of the city. No more will an auto ride through Maine be an education in brands of underwear, coffee, gasoline and neckties.

Our tourists who travel through this State must get used to the country again. Instead of a painted drawing-room set to make them feel at home, 70 miles from Kennebunkport, they will see a beautiful valley, fresh with trees and sparkling with a lake. Instead of young ladies, 12 feet tall in lingerie, standing guard 40 miles from Portland, the tourists must be content with poplars and sugar maples. Touring is to become formal again. The Maine roads have gone back to nature.

Nevertheless, we'd like to tour in Maine. Even the most artistic billboards grow tiresome after awhile. We haven't seen the country for so long, here about St. Louis, that we would relish a trip through Maine. Oh, to look upon a sunset once more without peering over the shoulder of a pajamaed youngster who reminds us "Time to Re-Tire." Oh, to see a whole cow emerge from behind a breakfast food sign. Oh, to get a whiff of clover unmingled with fresh paint from billboards.

What will it profit intolerance to win the Scopes case if ignorance is to be unseated by knowledge divulged in connection with the trial?

EXAMINING A FUNDAMENTALIST.

Q. (Holding up book): You know what this is?
A. Yes, The Bible.
Q. Why THE Bible?
A. Because it is our Bible.
Q. (Picking up several other books): What right have we to assume that our Bible is THE Bible?
A. Because it is our Bible.
Q. All right, I will show you some Bibles. (Holds up one.) This is the Vulgate, or Catholic Bible. (Holds up another.) This is the Hebrew Bible. (Holds up a third.) This is Jefferson's Bible. (Holds up a fourth.) This is the so-called Farmers' Bible. (Laughs.)
A. I don't know anything about them. The King James Bible is good enough for me.

Q. You are not a student of bibliography?
A. If it is about other Bibles than ours, no. (Laughs.)
Q. Very well. Let us take your Bible and look in the book of Genesis. Here is the story of the ark. Do you believe that?
A. Certainly.
Q. Every word of it?
A. Absolutely.
Q. Do you believe that Noah took a pair of all living creatures on the ark?
A. Yes.
Q. Very well. Do you believe that he took two dogs aboard and only two fleas? (Laughs.)
A. I do if it says so. (Annoyed.)
Q. Did you ever try to hold a dog down to one flea? (Laughs.)
A. I know nothing about dogs or any other dumb brute. I am interested in man. (Annoyed.)
Q. You think man is a some sort of special creation?
A. Yes. God made him in His own image.
Q. Then how do you account for the early brute types of man like Pithecanthropus Erectus?
A. You mean the ape man from Java?
Q. Yes.
A. I attach no importance whatever to it. There are plenty of people just that ugly living today. (Laughs.)
Q. You think we also have the Neanderthal Man with us?
A. Certainly. What about Juror No. 4? (Laughs.)
Q. And the Pithead Man?
A. Of course. Look at the balliff. (Laughs.)
Q. Do you see the Heidelberg Man in the room? (Laughs.)
A. Yes. Henry Mencken. (Laughs and applause.)
Q. And the Cro-Magnon Man?
A. That was the handsome fellow?
Q. Yes.
A. Looking around the room: I don't see him. However, there are some Cro-Magnon women present. (Laughs.)
Q. That will be all, I think.
A. (Rising): I think so. (Applause and laughter.)

The Court (reaching for the hymn book): We will now join in singing "The Old-Time Religion," number 185. (Music.)

THE NEXT GENERATION.

(Junction City, Kan., Union.)
One enterprising farm youth recently demonstrated a new way of making money. He found a nest of crow eggs and took them home. The county pays a bounty of 1 cent each for the eggs, but for the crow head it pays 15 cents. The boy decided that the 2-cent difference between egg and head was too great, so placed the eggs in his mother's incubator. In due time the baby crows hatched out and before they were ready to fly he disposed of them, bringing in the heads, for which he received a dime apiece.

AT THE SUMMER OPERA.

(Lady to bald-headed man, looking up apprehensively at the sky): Wasn't that rain?
B. H. M. (smiling): Yes, Madam. It is the third shower we have had since the performance began.

A Belleville hen has laid an egg 3 1/4 inches long and 2 inches in diameter. If it hatches a flapper there will be nothing left for the controversy Dayton.

Interlocutor: We will now hear the Municipal Glee Club, which will sing that stirring number, "With a Hertenstein on the table and a good song ringing clear." Chin music please.

Sir: Sign at Jefferson Barracks where you embark from the trolley:

This way for film, candy, ice cream, etc.

What's the use of being an officer if you don't use your authority in such urgent cases as that? ANTOLYCUS.

THE PRESIDENT'S POLICY IN CHINA.

From the New York World.

AN American note, dispatched to the governments of nine Powers, contains a statement of this country's policy in the Far East and the suggestion that the Powers meet in conference to make a statement on past promises to China. Replies to the invitation are almost certain to be favorable. But beneath a surface approval there is some hostility to Mr. Coolidge's program. Europe, to date, has taken the attitude that there is no need to hurry. The French Government is convinced, as Associated Press informs us, that this is a most unpropitious moment for a conference on China. Parts of the British government are similarly convinced, and Sir Worthington Evans, War Minister, has discovered if not that China has German chemists (ex-emies) and Russian chemists (reds) to develop a great gas industry for the use of a Chinese army.

With all due credit to the authenticity of such warnings, it is to be hoped that Mr. Coolidge will not be persuaded by London and London telegrams to postpone his conference on China. He may be certain that if these mercantile interests which are entrenched in China regard the present movement as unpropitious they will also regard as equally unpropitious any movement which may choose six months from now and if Sir Worthington's Russo-German gasists turn out to be a false alarm Sir Worthington or somebody else will discover Russian bolshevism permeating China in other guise.

The essential conflict in the matter calling a conference at the present time is the conflict between those who believe that unrest in China is in itself proof that there needs a new deal from the Powers to those who, with impractical intentions, pretend to believe that nothing should be done so long as there is indication of unrest in China—unrest which their own aggressions are in part responsible.

Mr. Coolidge holds the former view, but in some degree American opinion, the latter view. The question is whether these trading interests will have influence enough in Paris, Tokio and London to block a conference or make a joke of it if it is called.

A GREAT DAY FOR SMITH.

From the Hartford Courant.

TAMMANY HALL, in New York, celebrated the Fourth of July, and the who read the accounts of the speeches delivered must have fully realized the fact in American history that the Democratic party never dies. One could be so enthusiastic that he declared all was necessary to get control of the country again was to make the Senate Democratic, the House Democratic and to elect a Democratic President. He didn't just how it was going to be done, however. On the other hand, Representative John L. Douglas of Massachusetts declared that Coolidge will go down in history as predecessor of President Smith! It was great day for Smith, but nobody noticed the schism between Smith and Bryan.

H. PETRING, COFFEE MERCHANT, 61, DIES

Succumbs to Heart Disease at Home, Following Illness of Two Weeks.

George H. Petring, 61 years old, president of the H. P. Coffee Co., 1901 Spruce street, died at 12:05 a. m. today at the family residence, 4545 West Pine boulevard, of heart disease, following an illness of two months.

Born and educated in St. Louis, he entered business in 1888 with his father, Henry Petring, head of a wholesale grocery of that name. Upon the father's death in 1886 the business was reorganized as the H. P. Coffee Co. by his two sons, George H. and Walter H. Petring, of 4 Washington terrace, and has been conducted by them since.

Petring was a director of the Liberty Central Trust Co. of this Continental Bank Co. and of the Kregel Casket Co. Surviving are three children—Mrs. Burnett Cullen and Miss Emma Petring, a son, William H. Petring—all of St. Louis; three sisters—Misses Agnes and Adele Petring—of 4426 West Pine boulevard, and Mrs. E. L. Buschman of East Orange, N. J.; and his brother, Walter H. Petring. He was a widower, Mrs. Petring having died two years ago.

He was a member of the Church of the Messiah, Unitarian, Union boulevard and Eastgate avenue. The funeral will be from the residence, probably Thursday.

H. PETRING, COFFEE MERCHANT, 61, DIES

Succumbs to Heart Disease at Home, Following Illness of Two Weeks

George H. Petring, 61 years old, president of the H. P. Coffee Co., 1901 Spruce street, died at 12:05 a. m. today at the family residence, 4441 West Pine boulevard, of heart disease, following an illness of two weeks.

Born and educated in St. Louis, he entered business in 1880 with his father, Henry Petring, head of a wholesale grocery of that name. Upon the father's death in 1886, the business was reorganized as the H. P. Coffee Co. by his two sons, George H. and Walter H. Petring, of 6 Washington terrace, and has been conducted by them since.

Petring was a director of the Liberty Central Trust Co., of the Continental Brick Co., and of the Kew-Casket Co.

Surviving are three children—Mrs. Burnett Outten and Miss Emma Petring, both sons, William H. Petring, all of St. Louis; three nieces—Misses Anna and Adele Petring, of 4123 West Pine boulevard, and Mrs. E. L. Buschman of East George, N. J.; and his brother, Walter H. Petring. He was a widower, Mrs. Petring having died two years ago.

He was a member of the Church of the Messiah, Unitarian, Union Methodist and Knight of the Ku Klux Klan, and was active in the residence, probably Thursday.

WIDOWS NEW YORK BANKER

Mrs. J. S. Bache Is Awarded Decree in Paris.

NEW YORK, July 21.—News of the divorce granted Mrs. J. S. Bache in Paris is the first intimation that she is seeking a legal separation. As Florence R. Sheffer, who became the bride of the banker in 1912, Mrs. Bache sailed for Paris Jan. 29 and was joined by her daughter, Kathryn King Bache, in May.

Last year Mrs. Bache was fined $25,000 for bringing clothing and jewelry into this country without having declared them on her manifest when she returned Nov. 15, when she was the second time she had been in trouble with the customs officials. In 1911 she had attempted a similar thing. Then, as last year, she gave as her reason the fact that since 1900 she had maintained a residence abroad in Paris.

NEW 'WHITE WAY' OPENED

Program Given by West Florissant Avenue Merchants.

Opening of the West Florissant avenue "White Way," from Grand boulevard to Harris avenue, was the occasion for a celebration last night under the auspices of the West Florissant Avenue Merchants' Association. The affair was largely attended.

Speeches were made by Director Streets and Sewers Brooks and Ralph Toenfeldt, chief electrical engineer of the city. Other features were a fireworks display, musical program and street dance at Warner and Florissant avenue.

MUSEN-CAVALIER IS BILLED

Chicago Civic Opera Company to Present German Comedy.

CHICAGO, July 21.—The Rosen-Cavalier, a comic opera by the German composer, Richard Strauss, which was the reigning operatic success in London last year, will be presented here in the coming season by the Chicago Civic Opera. It was announced today.

The season's repertoire, as tentatively arranged, includes 27 operas, of which 21 are Italian, nine in French, four in German and three in English.

Social Activities

INVITATIONS were received in St. Louis yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. George Shepley Tiffany for the marriage of their daughter, Mary Christy, and John Teele Pratt Jr., of New York, to take place Wednesday, Aug. 26, at the Tiffany summer home, "A'ja-can," Dark Harbor, Me. The ceremony will be performed at 10 o'clock in the afternoon and will be followed by a reception, to which all the wedding guests will be asked to attend.

The marriage which is by far the most important socially of the mid-summer season, will draw many St. Louisans to Dark Harbor.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo C. Church of Wydown and Mr. Church's mother, Mrs. Rolla Wells, of 25 Westmoreland place, will motor East for the Tiffany-Pratt wedding.

E. Lansing Ray of 4615 Pershing avenue has returned from motor trip to Rye Beach, N. H., with Mrs. Ray and their children. He will rejoin his family in August.

Mrs. Ralph Coale of 4396 Maryland avenue and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Linn Clardy of Farmington, Mo., will depart this week to join Mrs. Francis B. York of 3214 Washington boulevard, mother of the two young women, at her summer home in Charlevoix, Mich.

Mrs. Horatio N. Spencer of 4324 McPherson avenue and her daughter, Miss Harriet, have deferred their summer trip until September, when after a visit in the East, they will go to Bryn Mawr, Pa., where Miss Spencer will be entered in Bryn Mawr College. She was graduated from Mary Institute in June.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer's youngest daughter, Miss Helen, is attending Camp Newaka, at Ward, Colo.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Block of Wydown boulevard will depart this week for Rye Beach, N. H. They will make the trip by motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Russell Akin of 5340 Waterman avenue will depart Thursday morning to spend two months at the Farragut House, in Rye Beach, N. H.

Mrs. Graetz Scott of New York is the guest of Mrs. George Tamm of 230 North Newstead avenue, who recently returned from a trip to Europe.

Mrs. Antoinette Atkins of 5138 Waterman avenue, and her daughter, Miss Eleanor, departed last night for Chicago, where they will be the guests for a month at the Edgewater Beach Hotel.

Mrs. Helen Holland McLaughlin of 4967 West Pine boulevard, is a guest at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hudson of 224 North Newstead avenue, and their young son, Charles Jr., will depart Aug. 1 to spend three weeks in Eureka Springs, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Walte of 322 McPherson avenue, and their family are spending a month at Colorado resorts.

Miss Helen Elizabeth Linneman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Linneman of 5618 Cates avenue, is visiting Miss Eleanor and Miss Elizabeth Pope of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of St. Louis.

The St. Louis Chapter of the English-Speaking Union will give an informal luncheon Friday noon in Parlor A, Missouri Athletic Club in honor of Angus Fletcher of the British Library of Information, New York. Fletcher will give a brief address. He was the guest of the Chapter about two years ago. Luncheon will be at 12:15, and members may bring guests.

NAZIMOVA'S TRUNKS HELD

Actress Indignant at Customs Men for Questioning Valuation.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Alla Nazimova, actress, is going to have a conference with customs appraisers regarding her trunk which was held up when she arrived on the Leviathan yesterday.

Two trunks and a hat box were taken from the boat to appraisers' headquarters for further examination, as the examiners were not satisfied with the values declared by the actress. She indignantly stated that the prices she had set forth were correct.

Bumper Peach Crop Predicted

PEOPLES BLUFF, Mo., July 21.—Peach orchards in Southeastern Missouri lowlands will have a bumper crop this year, while the orchards on hill lands are virtually failures, horticulturists of this section say. They report cold weather killed many of the peaches in hill orchards. The Mary Jane Peach Orchard, one of Missouri's newest and largest fruit farms, located near Blodgett, will have a bumper crop. More than 10,000 peach trees in the orchard are bearing fruit this year.

Accepts St. Louis Pastorate

The Rev. Leonard V. Buschman, of New Jersey has accepted the pastorate of the Tyler Place Presbyterian Church, Russell boulevard and Spring avenue, and will begin his duties as pastor Sept. 1. The Rev. W. H. Butler of the North Presbyterian Church will fill the pastorate during August.

Commerce Merchant Dies at 89

COMMERCIAL, Mo., July 21.—Benjamin McKinley, 89 years old, retired merchant, died here early this morning. He was born at Cape Girardeau. He went with the forty-niners to California. He came to Commerce in 1858 and went into the merchandise business, in which he continued for nearly 40 years. He is survived by two grandchildren, Ralph Brundrett of St. Louis and Lynn Brundrett of Chicago.

Houston Cotton Man Found Dead

HOUSTON, Tex., July 21.—A. L. Nelms, prominent Houston cotton man for the last 40 years, was found dead at 6:30 p. m. yesterday in his office in the Cotton Exchange Building. He had been dead for several hours. A broke was believed to have been the cause of death. Nelms was 63 years old and lived for 42 years in this city, during all of which time he was engaged in the cotton business.

League Council Discusses Feonage

GENEVA, July 21.—Feonage in the Philippine Islands and in Central American countries was the subject of discussion by the League of Nations Temporary Commission on Slavery today during the course of the preparatory work to the League Council. The discussion tended toward the conclusion that the system of labor existing in some parts of the countries under discussion amounts to forced labor and is the part of the victims and therefore, may be construed as partial slavery.

"Haensel and Gretel" Is Entrancingly Staged in Bower at Garden Theater.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

IT may be doubted whether that delectable fairy opera, "Haensel and Gretel," was ever staged quite so bewitchingly as it is in the Garden Theater's current production, which opened last night under the lowering auspices of a drizzle. This uninvited performer cut the attendance to 1900, but considerably limited its interpolations to the intermissions.

Humperdinck might have written his exquisite and mystical score for this very theater, since the sylvan bower embracing the stage provides an actual forest by way of setting. Even a band of katydid and cricket chorists, from the depths of the glade, seemed to have volunteered to save the composer the trouble of imitating their music in the orchestra. Nature, moreover, was transfigured by the magic of "fairy" lighting, which emphasized upon the foliage: laces of gossamer texture and elfin tint.

The three stage-pictures may serve as perfect models for those of us who are fond of outdoor production. The basic principles are faithfully observed—simplicity, cubic structures and properties, and all dimensions in harmony with the nature of the human actors and the trees. Architecture, not painting, is here the sovereign art.

A rustic curtain, sliding aside at the center, improves upon a device used at the Fashion Show, at the necessity of screening the Gingerbread House until the proper moment for its disclosure is deftly managed by dint of leafy hedges, so lighted as to reflect a natural green instead of the artificial green of a painter's confection.

The artificial edifices in the first act were confined to a wood-chopper's humble cottage and a low stone wall. The covert of the forest served as sole setting for Act II, except for a concealed incline which, which trooped bands of gnomes and angels. The structures for the final act were more elaborate, but charmingly humorous and imaginative—the witch's lair, with shingles of gingerbread wafers and doorknobs and chimney of striped candy, together with a stone oven, a cage in which to fatten Haensel for the witch's breakfast, and a row of gingerbread mannikins suspended on a hedge until the dissolving of the spell should turn them again into children. By means of a catapult device, the sorceress, after a preliminary gallop on her broomstick, appeared to soar aloft over the roof. The costumes throughout, both in design and color scheme, was particularly effective.

Weakness in Principal Parts.

With a production not merely professional but memorably beautiful, it was unfortunate that an amateur tinge should have been permitted to enter. Misses Derbach and Orens, girls in their teens, who sang the title roles with the Chicago Civic Opera Co., were engaged apparently on the grounds of realism, since Haensel and Gretel are children. Neither displayed a distinct voice or acting ability to do justice to their parts.

Mr. Wolfe's sonorous basso and histrionic vivacity shone in the rollicking role of Peter, the father; although he was hampered by a severe cold and a perceptible Russian accent. Miss Jackson was excellent as Gertrude, the mother; and Mrs. Claessens, as a jolly and cannibalistic witch, won the success of the evening.

Charming and Learned Music.

The opera has no love story and virtually no plot, in a dramatic sense, until the third act, a series of two consisting chiefly of a series of musical numbers. But such music! Humperdinck grasped the ponderous machinery of Wagnerian science and subdued it to a task of the simplest delicacy. Imagination and towering virtuosity were made the dutiful servants of an inspiration of the freshest charm. To a lay auditor the score has all the naive and spontaneity of German folksong; to the musician, it is an endless revelation of artful workmanship.

The well-drilled orchestra of 30 was too small to cope adequately with the score, and Mr. Parson's direction, accurate and scrupulous, seemed to lack pace and contrast. A similar want of animation and tempo upon the stage gave the impression, at times, of a performance only half alive. Mr. Solari has often proved more successful with inanimate than with human material.

Adapted from the familiar nursery tale of "The Babes in the Woods," the opera tells how two children, hidden by their mother for skivvying instead of doing their chores, are sent into the forest to pick strawberries, are captured by a witch, and thrust her into her own oven. Two St. Louis girls, Misses Heilmueller and Bartels, sang prettily as the Dewman and Sandman, and the chorus of St. Louis girls was pleasing to those who like immature voices in grand opera. A ballet, also of St. Louis girls, performed stately evolutions in the dream scene.

WOULD MAKE LINDELL 'REAL CIVIC ASSET'

Reorganized Association of Property Owners Announces Its Program.

The Lindell Boulevard Association has been reorganized to work for the improvement of Lindell boulevard and will seek an increased membership to support its efforts. Purposes of the association are stated as follows:

"To protect Lindell boulevard as a residence street and to aid in enforcing the zoning ordinance passed recently by the Board of Aldermen, prohibiting the locating of undesirable business establishments on this thoroughfare.

"To work for and encourage improvement of property and grounds fronting on Lindell; the resurfacing of the boulevard where necessary.

"To make Lindell a boulevard beautiful that it may be a real civic asset to the city; a boulevard worthy of the new spirit expressed in the $7,000,000 bond issue; worthy as the main thoroughfare leading from the business section to Forest Park, and fully equal to its name and fame.

"Property owners have reported to officers of the association that property values along the boulevard have been steadily decreasing and there seems to be a general demand that the city be aroused to the situation."

A meeting of the Executive Committee of the association will be held tomorrow evening at the Elks Club, 3619 Lindell, to discuss plans for its activities.

In attempting to save her children from a stray cat that had invaded her yard, Mrs. Frances Miller, 35 years old, of 5334 Theodora avenue, was seriously bitten and scratched by the cat yesterday afternoon. She was treated at city hospital and taken home.
She suffered numerous lacerations of the hands, arms and body. The cat turned on Mrs. Miller when she grabbed the animal to carry it from the yard and away from the chickens. It disappeared later.

CUSTODY OF CITY JAIL DEMANDED BY THE SHERIFF

Two Sections of State Statutes Cited by Attorney for Schuler as Basis of Claim to Authority.

POLITICAL PHASE TO THE MOVEMENT

Mandamus Suit Likely to Follow if Matter Is Ignored by the City Officials.

Sheriff Schuler today served a demand on City Jailor Lefman and his superior, Director of Public Welfare Salisbury, for custody of the city jail.

The Sheriff considers it his duty to take charge of the jail, under the law, though heretofore it has been in the custody of a jailor appointed by the city administration.

While Sheriff Schuler maintains that his demand is part of his program to assume the full duties and powers of his office, it is noteworthy that Schuler is one of the Republican leaders who has not become reconciled to the political ascendancy of Mayor Miller, being aligned with Collector Koeln, an antagonist of the Mayor. Jailor Lefman is one of the "original Miller men" who obtained jobs in the new administration.

Jailor Lefman accompanied the Sheriff to Director Salisbury's office after receiving the demand, while Deputy Sheriff Adam Hoerner was left at the jail with instructions to see that no prisoner was allowed to leave the building without an order from the Sheriff.

Basis of the Demand.
The line of argument on which the Sheriff based his demand for custody of the jail, as outlined by his attorney, Oliver T. Remmers, follows:

St. Louis is, in effect, a county, and its jail houses prisoners in the same way as a county jail. The Sheriff's office is created by the Constitution. The law (section 1251) provides: "The Sheriff of each county in this State shall have the custody, rule, keeping and charge of the jail within his county, and of all the prisoners in such jail, and may appoint a jailer under him for whose conduct he shall be responsible."

The following section adds: "It shall be the duty of the Sheriff and jailer to receive, from Constables and other officers, all persons who shall be apprehended by such Constables or other officers, for offenses against this State, or who shall be committed to such jail by any competent authority." If the Sheriff refuses to receive such prisoners, it is provided, he is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Commitment to Sheriff.
Commitments of prisoners by Circuit Court are directed to the Sheriff, and not the Jailor, the Sheriff's argument continues. The Sheriff at common law is the jailor ex officio. The right of the Sheriff to conduct the St. Louis jail never has been taken away by law. While the Sheriff is held responsible by the courts for the safekeeping of prisoners, at present he has nothing to do with their keeping, and is technically, at least, in contempt of court by allowing prisoners out of his control. So runs the theory of the demand.

Copies of the demand were delivered to City Counselor Senti and Comptroller Nolte. In a separate demand on the Comptroller, the Sheriff declared that the present Jailor and his aids are acting without authority of law, and stated that he would not recognize their orders for pay. The Sheriff further demanded that the Comptroller recognize his vouchers for maintenance of the jail.

It was stated that Sheriff Schuler would file a mandamus suit in Circuit Court to obtain his desire if his demand for the jail custody was refused.

Fugitive Warrants Affected.
One of the first steps of Sheriff Schuler's program to assume full duties and powers was to take over the service of all fugitive warrants, which are directed to the Sheriff, but which formerly were served by the police. This step followed the release of a prisoner in Southern Missouri, wanted in St. Louis, when a policeman tried to serve a fugitive warrant on him, which the local court refused to recognize.

For about three months the Sheriff's office has been taking part in liquor and other raids where search warrants were issued. Inasmuch as these warrants are directed to the Sheriff, but formerly the police carried them out, Sheriff Schuler led in the movement for removing his office from the fee basis, since the Sheriff's salary is $10,000 a year.

Provisions of City Charter.
When the city and county separated in 1878 the scheme and Charter adopted then gave the Sheriff here all the duties within the city limits which had been those of the county sheriff. The present Charter provides for a division of correction under the Director of Public Welfare, which shall have under its special charge the operation and maintenance of all detective, penal and corrective institutions of the city. This division never has been established. The Charter is silent as to the office of city jailer. This position now pays $200 a month, with living quarters in the jail, food supplies and laundry furnished, for the first year, and $225 a month thereafter.

Healthy kiddies never tire of the happy Kellogg flavor! Oh, mother, it's good! They'll eat Kellogg's day after day.

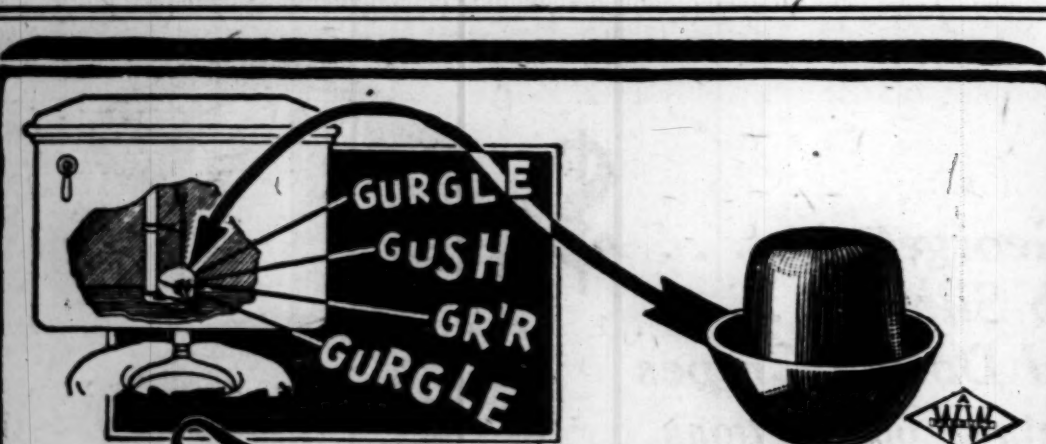

Heap high the breakfast bowls with Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Each deliciously toasted, crunchy-crisp flake has a flavor-thrill for all. Serve with milk or cream—fresh or preserved fruit too. No cooking. Sold by grocers everywhere. Served in all restaurants.

Kellogg's CORN FLAKES

Make this comparison!

Taste that wonderful flavor found only in Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Compare it with any ready-to-eat cereal. You'll know why millions demand Kellogg's.

To stop that gurgling closet tank leak!

... you've probably tried almost every kind of possible remedy. You tighten this screw—or loosen that one. You have taken your hands and fitted that old style tank bulb in every position you can—but the maddening gurgle goes on and on. If you are one of the many who are still bothered by such annoyance—to say nothing of the tremendous waste of water, it is because you have not installed the one patented appliance that will stop that trouble instantly.

At Master Plumbers Only! Parabal

Here's a tank ball that cannot leak. Shaped like an inverted mushroom, it fits down deeply into the valve seat—and seals it at every point. Made of one piece of pure, live gum, it will not split, collapse or swell. Phone your Master Plumber to put one in for you today.

DEPUTY SHERIFF SLAIN ATTEMPTING TO MAKE ARRESTS

William Barnes, 37, of Macoupin County, Ill.,
Shot by One of Robbery
Suspects in Auto.

MEMBER OF POSSE
WOUNDED BY MISTAKE

500 Men Take Up Search for Fugitives—Victim's Wife Hurt Standing Beside Him.

William Barnes, 37 years old, a
Deputy Sheriff of Macoupin County,
Ill., was shot and killed last night by one of two robbery suspects whom he attempted to arrest at a filling station at Nilwood, about 75 miles northeast of St.
Louis.

Barnes' wife, Ethel, who was standing beside him, was shot once in the left arm, presumably by a bullet intended for her husband.
She was not seriously wounded.

After the shooting, the men escaped in a stolen automobile, which later was found overturned
about four miles south of Nilwood.
A posse, under direction of Sheriff
John Russell of Carlinville, county seat, began a search for the men, but no trace of them had been found today. Bloodhounds were used in the search.

Samuel Welton, 17 years old, a member of the posse, which consisted of about 500 men, was shot once in the right shoulder shortly after daybreak today by another member of the posse, who mistook him for one of the slayers. The shooting occurred as Welton was walking alone in a cornfield, near the point where the machine was wrecked.

Barnes had received reports early last night at his home in Nilwood of the theft of an Essex sedan at Girard, a robbery there and at Virde, and a holdup on the concrete road near Girard by two men in a sedan, and was on the lookout for the robbers when two men, riding in a sedan, drove into a Nilwood filling station, at 10:45 o'clock.

Barnes was standing across the street when the men drove to the station and, drawing his revolver, walked over and ordered them to
"put 'em up" and submit to arrest. The man sitting next to the driver opened fire on Barnes, one bullet striking him in the chest and the other in the leg.

As they drove away, Barnes emptied his revolver at them and then fell. He was dead when physicians arrived.

Witnesses attempted to follow the men but were outdistanced. At a sharp curve about four miles south of Nilwood the slayers' machine was found overturned and badly wrecked. Apparently they had taken to a cornfield, as fresh footprints of two persons were discovered near the edge of the field.

In the wrecked automobile
Sheriff Russell found a blood-stained hat with the initials "P. H."
in the band.

The hat bore the trademark of an East St. Louis firm. It was the only clue the officers found.

Barnes is survived by his widow and one child.

SEQUIOTA STATE PARK

Fish Hatchery and Picturesque Cave in Resort Near Springfield.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 20.—
The State Park Commission, composed of Gov. Sam A. Baker, Attorney-General Robert W. Otto, and game and Fish Commissioner
Keith McCashe, has accepted the Sequiota State Fish Hatchery,
eight miles south of Springfield, on State highway 3. The former hatchery will be known as State Park.

The outstanding feature of the park is the hatchery, in which large quantities of bass, crappies, perch and rainbow trout are raised under State protection. The output is used in the stocking of Ozark streams.

A cave, located in the park, is another attraction. The cavern contains a lake and its stalagmites and other wonders can be seen from a large flat-bottomed boat. The park is a well-known beauty spot of the State and attract many visitors.

FIREMEN PUMP MASH

FROM NEW BUNGALOW

Supply of 15,000 Gallons

Found in Basement—Trap Doors Lead to Diningroom.

The Fire Department was called upon yesterday to aid in the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, when a fire engine pumped about 15,000 gallons of moonshine whiskey mash from the basement of a bungalow in the rear of 5181 Daggett avenue into a sewer.

Acting on information from a private source, detectives raided the bungalow, a newly constructed affair, and found the basement divided into two huge concrete vaults, one containing about 20,000 gallons of sweetened water and the other full of mash.

Precautions had been taken by the builders to camouflage the distillery. The floors were made of 2x4 timbers, grooved to prevent the odor of mash escaping from the premises. In the dining room, covered with linoleum, were trap doors leading to the vaults.

The dining room was entered from an alley through two swinging doors, large enough to admit an automobile truck, and tire prints were found on the floor, which was supported by large steel girders.

The arrival of the fire apparatus brought the neighborhood out, and hundreds of persons watched the firemen pump the mash into the gutter.

After the officers had taken charge of the house two men arrived and were arrested. They described themselves as Peter English, 34, no occupation, and Ernest Bortling, 36, a chauffeur.

English said the house belonged to his mother-in-law, who lives with him. Neither he nor Bortling would admit knowledge of the vaults, the mash or of parts of the unsanitary plant.

It is believed that mash had been made in the 20,000-gallon vat and run off and that the sweetened water had been run into it in preparation for another lot of moonshine.

Boy, 9, Burned During Destruction of Alcoholic.

In the destruction yesterday of 200 five-gallon cans of confiscated alcohol by pouring it into a sewer in front of the Jack Daniels' Distilling Co. plant, 2900 Duncan avenue, the alcohol caught fire and severely burned William Dalton, 9 years old, of 4016 Cottage avenue, who was playing near the vat.

The boy was treated for burns on the right leg and right arm and taken to his home.

The alcohol had been confiscated at the distillery plant and was being destroyed by Chief Deputy United States Marshal Jennings. In overflowing at the sewer intake some of it ran down the street into the gutter, where a bystander ignited it. The boy was burned when the blaze ran back to the vat, where it was burning a crowd watching the destruction.

As a result of the incident, Jennings said, onlookers would be kept at a safe distance from such operations in the future.

OF HOME OF ABOLITIONIST

Superstitious Persons Believe Spirit of Civil War Minister Has Returned to Place.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. DOVER, Ky., July 21.—Following development of a photograph taken of the veranda of the house occupied before the Civil War by the Rev. John Rankins, just across the Ohio from here, superstitious persons believe the spirit of the famous abolitionist minister has returned to it.

Mrs. Ella Buckran, and Misses Ethel and Jennie McMillan of this town took a photograph of the porch when, they declare, there was no human being thereon. When the picture was developed the figure of a man in a chair on the veranda appeared. Persons who remember how the Rev. Mr. Rankins looked assert the figure in the chair bears a strange resemblance to the preacher, one of the pioneer enemies of slavery of this section, who used his home, that is, the house, as a refuge for escaping slaves.

The Rankins' home has been identified as that to which "Eliza," slave heroine of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," fled with her child after she had crossed the Ohio on cakes of ice, pursued by bloodhounds, according to Mrs. Stowe's novel. Mrs. Stowe visited the Rankin home for material while writing the book.

GERMANY SUPPLYING VARIED

PRODUCTS UNDER DAWES PLAN

Trous, Eggs, Matches, Telegraph Poles Among Commodities Being Delivered.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, July 21.—Fertilized trout eggs, matches, barbed wire, linoleum factories, tobacco and telegraph poles now are included in the varied catalogue of commodities that Germany is supplying to her creditors under the operation of the Dawes plan. While coal, coke, dyes, and nitrate constituted the bulk of her deliveries in kind during the early operation of the reparations program, its possibilities are such as to threaten to convert Germany into a huge department store, which will be at the unlimited service of her reparations creditors.

One of the unique contracts awarded Germany provides for the delivery by the state fish hatcheries of Baden of a large consignment of trout spawn with which the trout streams of France are to be re-stocked.

MAN IN AUTO AIDS IN

ESCAPE OF WOMAN SHOP LIFTER

Purported Customer, Trapped on Second Visit to Apparel Shop, Puts Up Fight.

Mrs. Rebecca Jacobson, who conducts a women's ready-to-wear apparel shop at 2510 North Fourth street, missed a silk dress from her establishment one day last week just after a woman customer had departed. About 3 p. m. yesterday, she was in the rear of the store when she saw that same customer enter again. Sending her clerk, Miss Irene Zimmerman, to wait on the woman, Mrs. Jacobson took up a position behind a partition from which she could watch developments.

When the clerk turned away to get a small purchase, Mrs. Jacobson saw the woman snatch a silk dress from a hanger and quickly stuff it into her shopping bag. She stepped out of hiding and accused the customer and a friend of all the trouble she was in. The woman, who was a blonde, tried to run away, but Mrs. Jacobson, for a few moments, followed her. She saw the woman get into a taxicab and drive away. Mrs. Jacobson described the woman as being about 23 years old and five feet seven inches tall. She wore a light hat and crepe de chine dress.

AMERICANS ATTEND PARTY

AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE

6000 Guests Present at Function Given by King George and Queen Mary.

LONDON, July 21.—About 100 Americans were among the 6000 guests who today attended a garden party given by King George and Queen Mary at Buckingham Palace. The visitors were invited to arrive at 3:15 instead of 4 o'clock as formerly, in order to allow more time for viewing the spacious grounds of the palace. They were especially interested in seeing the portable outdoor canvas office where the King works during hot weather.

Only a few presentations were made to the majesties. Among those presented were Mrs. Joseph R. Lamar, Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. E. M. Townsend, New York; Mrs. T. Sherman, New York; Mrs. John Lowell, Boston; Mrs. N. T. Bacon, Providence, R. I.; Mrs. A. Crittenden Smith, Nebraska.

Other Americans attending the garden party included: Mr. and Mrs. Howard C. Heins, Pittsburgh; Mrs. N. M. and Miss Natica Nast, New York; Mrs. E. M. Herd and Col. and Mrs. Robert Ross, San Francisco; Mr. R. F. Tucker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Hagan; Senator Arthur Capper, Kansas and Mrs. Capper; Representative Corcoran, Missouri; Mrs. Hull, Illinois; Mrs. E. M. and Mrs. H. H. Brown, New York; Mrs. J. Corrihan, New York.

WADE REACHES ST. LOUIS ON

NON-STOP AUTOMOBILE RUN

Around-World Flyer Driving Car From Los Angeles to New York.

Louis, La. Wade, one of the army round-the-world flyers, and a companion, Linton Wells, arrived in St. Louis shortly before 10 a. m. today on a nonstop drive from Los Angeles to New York, in a Packard straight eight, touring car.

Due to the muddy car, the Kansas City and Jefferson City they were 12 hours behind their schedule. The conditions of the run are that the wheels of the car do not stop moving. Wade stopped at Jefferson City last night and Wells at the Capitol Building, gas and oil being taken while running.

Matt Morse, president of the Automobile Club of Missouri, and an escort of motor cycle policemen met them at Pennsylvania boulevard and Ford street and accompanied them through the city to the Free Bridge.

DENIES RAILROAD RATE

BOOSTS IN SOUTHERN MISSOURI

Interstate Body Holds Proposed Increases for Traffic to Other Points Unreasonable.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Proposed increases in railroad rates between Southern Missouri on one hand and points in Northern Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Arkansas on the other, which were postponed last October pending investigation, were held unreasonable today by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

At the same time the commission authorized the railroads to modify existing schedules governing the traffic under consideration. The changes which the railroads proposed to make were held necessary partly in order to allow a circuitous line to meet competition by equaling rates of shorter lines. The commission laid down a basis for new rates out of Southern Missouri which it decided would allow the railroads serving that territory to meet their purpose.

4 Die, 5 Injured in Texas Fire.

DALLAS, Tex. July 21.—Four men were burned to death and five others suffered minor injuries in a fire which destroyed a two-story frame rooming house early this morning. Two of the dead are unidentified. The two men identified are T. E. Young, 27 years old, contractor, and Joe Dunaway, 34 years old.

BOOTLEG CONCERN HAS LIST

OF ST. LOUIS CLUB MEMBERS

New York Inquiry, However, Said Not Necessarily Indicate Prosa.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The Federal grand jury, conducting the John Doe inquiry into the activities of the alleged "mail order racket" which was raided last Friday, examined a number of Government witnesses yesterday who were said to have been mail order purchasers living in Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska. United States Attorney Puckner said that a list of "prospects" found in possession of the alleged racketeers included the membership list of the St. Louis Country Club. He would not make public any of the names on the list.

The "prospects" of the list names, he explained, "do not necessarily indicate that those persons bought liquor. Pious names have been used by persons who patronize liquor mail order houses."

The ring had 29,000 customers. Trucks were shipped containing liquor and when customers received payment, instructions for opening the trucks were mailed them.

Buckner has received information that at least one of the ring advertised its wares as high-grade deep sea stuff, the liquor shipped in two cutting plants, substituted for the ring's headquarters.

I. C. C. SEEKS $10,000 FROM

M. PAC. AND FRISCO RAILROADS

Suit Filed in Federal Court Here

Alleged Violation of Rates on Canned Goods Shipments.

Suits asking judgments of $10,000 against the Missouri Pacific and Frisco Railroads were filed in Federal Court today by the United States District Attorney, who charges the railroads have violated an order of the Interstate Commerce Commission, issued in March, 1920, forbidding them from charging a rate not to exceed 10 cents a hundred pounds for canned goods shipped from Pueblo to Chicago.

The suits were filed because the railroads maintained a rate of 88 cents a hundred pounds for canned goods shipped to Claremore, Okla., in December, 1924, and May, 1925, while their rate to Wichita was 45 cents a hundred pounds.

The suits were filed because the main offices of both roads are located here. The petitions, prepared by Washington attorneys, for the Commerce Commission, the judgments asked are the fixed penalties for violations of its regulations.

FOSTER SON FORGIVEN

BY MISS S. E. BOYLE

Lloyd Boyle Howard and Bride
Now Residing at Hotel
Chase With Her.

Lloyd Boyle Howard, 19-year-old foster son and heir of Miss Sidney Emeline Boyle, and his bride, who at the time of their elopement last April was employed as a candy shop clerk, have been forgiven and accepted by Miss Boyle and are now living with her at Hotel Chase. The young couple said their foster-parent are planning to leave shortly for a Northern resort to spend the summer and possibly the winter.

Young Howard—the name given him by Miss Boyle when she adopted him in 1912—restored himself in the graces of his foster-mother by his plucky application to his $15-a-week as a theater usher, with which he supported himself and his bride in a room on Westminster place for more than two months. In the evenings he called on Miss Boyle at Hotel Chase, until about three weeks ago he became ill of a bronchial malady. Then Miss Boyle invited the couple to make their home with her.

As was told, shortly after their elopement to St. Charles, April 22, became known, the youth and girl met at a swimming pool last summer and fell in love at first sight. Throughout the winter he paid court while she worked at the Melbourne Hotel candy shop. After the elopement he returned and told his foster mother about it. The interview was not altogether pleasant, and the young eloper, gathering up what clothes he could, departed to join his bride and start out on their own. It was then he obtained his job as an usher at the Missouri Theater.

"We are supremely happy now," the young husband and his bride told a Post-Dispatch reporter at Hotel Chase today. "Mother is going to take us to Saranac, N. Y., in the Adirondacks, where we may take a cottage. I have developed an affliction of the left lung, which should mend in the open air. I love to fish, swim and hunt. We expect to spend the summer there and may stay throughout the winter to enjoy the winter sports at Lake Placid near by."

Miss Boyle is the daughter of the late Judge Wilbur Boyle, senior partner of the law firm of Boyle & Priest, who at his death in 1911 left his daughter an inheritance of $600,000. Active in charitable ministrations, she came upon the boy—an orphan—ill in a hospital from a complication of diseases, and was won by his sunny smile and cheery disposition.

MATCH SHARES ON MARKET

International Corporation Buys Polish Monopoly.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 21.—To finance acquisition of the Polish match monopoly, the International Match Corporation announced yesterday it would offer $20,250,000 of its stock for public subscription. The offering will take the form of 450,000 participating preference shares, priced at $45 a share, and will be made today through a banking syndicate, headed by Lee, Higginson & Co.

Proceeds derived from the sale, which is the second largest stock offering made in the New York market this year, will enable the International Match Co. to purchase 18 factories in Poland, with a combined output of a billion boxes of matches yearly. The corporation yesterday declared a quarterly dividend of 80 cents a share on the participating preferred stock, increasing the rate from $2.60 to $3.20 annually, payable Oct. 15 to holders of record Sept. 25. Net earnings for the half year were $4,400,000.

LOVE

CHAPTER 25.

A FAINT desire to be like a small bird of reviving warmth through Catherine's cowed spirit. It was the first desire of kind she had had since she got to Chickover, and it arose she couldn't help noticing, at the same time as Christopher.

Mrs. Colquhoun was a little surprised at the silence of her companions—Mr. Monckton, who ever he might be, didn't respond to her friendliness as instantly as other young men she had met with, and Mrs. Cumfrith said nothing either. Then she remembered that she had been in church on the day of the wedding, and she made allowances, while as for Mr. Monckton, whoever he might be, he probably was shy. Well, she knew how to manage shy young folk; they never stayed shy long with her.

"Mrs. Cumfrith," she explained over the top of Catherine's head, "Christopher, isn't feeling very well today."

"Oh," said Christopher quickly with a swift, anxious look at Catherine.

"No. So we mustn't make him talk, Mr. Monckton. She turned a little faint just now in church."

Again the desire to laugh came through Catherine. "She'll be all right presently, and meanwhile, and I will entertain each other. You shall tell me all about yourself and how it is you've dropped out of the clouds into our quiet little midst."

Christopher's earnest wish at the moment was to uphold one of the tombstones and with it tell Mrs. Colquhoun to the ground. The old jackdaw, Stephen's mother, old birds of a feather, making him look and be a fool.

"Do tell us," urged Mrs. Colquhoun pleasantly, across the top of Catherine's head, as he said nothing.

Catherine, walking in silence between them, began to feel she was in competent hands.

"There isn't much to tell," said Christopher, thus inexorably driving and flaming red to the roots of his flaming hair.

"Everything," Mrs. Colquhoun assured him, encouragingly, "is interesting here. All is grist to the mill."

"Little mill," said Christopher, taking the side of the car and unbuttoning it. "Ah, no—I forgot. You are not to be made to talk."

We will do it all for you, Mr. Monckton."

They had got to the gate. Christopher lunged at it to open it for them.

As Catherine went through it, she was quickly in a low voice, "You look years older."

She raised her eyes a moment, "I always was," she murmured with a hoped, blood-curdling significance.

"Older?" repeated Mrs. Colquhoun, whose hearing, as she told her friends, was still, as she thought to say, unimpaired. "My young friend, is what may be said daily of us all. No doubt Mrs. Cumfrith notices a change even in you. Have you not met for a while?"

"Not for an eternity," said Christopher, in the sort of voice a man swears with.

A motorcycle with a sidecar was in the road outside the gate, and Mrs. Colquhoun paused on the verge of it.

"Yours, of course, Mr. Monckton," she said. "This is the machine in which you have dropped out of the skies on us. And what a side-car, too—an empty one, though. I don't like to think of a young man with an empty side-car. But, perhaps the young man has merely gone for a little stroll."

"I have brought it to take Mrs. Cumfrith back to London in," said the man of the male young.

"Is it hot enough for you? But I always say it isn't the heat—it's the humidity."

"I don't see what you're wasting your time on him for; he hasn't even a car."

"No official statement was forthcoming, but in quarters close to the Administration it was learned."

"Thank you for the opportunity of examining your manuscript, but our editors report that it is not exactly suited to the needs of our magazine."

"I shall always love you just as much as I do now."

"Did you remember to mail my letter?"

"I gave him my whole life and he flung it aside like a withered flower."

"Aren't you a little stouter than you were last year?"

"I can't understand why authors have to write so many sad stories—there's enough unhappiness in life without going to books for it, and when I read I want to be amused."

"Men are all alike—you can't trust one of them farther than you can see him."

"Under our form of government the will of the people must prevail."

made it impossible to say much.

Perhaps up there above her on his perch he really didn't hear; he continues on it long enough, that is for 20 miles or so, one comes to the sea. This was where Christopher took Catherine that morning, not stopping a moment nor slowing down except when prudence demanded, not speaking a word till he got there. At the bottom of the steep bit at the end, down which he went carefully, acutely aware of the precariousness of his passenger, where between grassy banks the road abruptly finishes in shingle and the sea, he stopped, got off, and came round to unwind her.

This was the moment he was most afraid of.

She looked so very small, rolled round in the rug like a little bolster propped up in the side car, that his heart misgave him worse than ever. It had been misgiving him without interruption the whole way, but it misgave him worse than ever now. He felt she was too small to hurt, to anger, even to ruffle; that it wasn't fair; that he ought, if he must attack, attack a woman more his own size.

And she knew, said a good many things when they passed that turning, none of which he could hear, but since then she had been silent. She was silent now; only, over the top of her scarf, which had got pushed up rather funny round her ears, her eyes were fixed on him.

"Here we are," he said. "We can talk here. If you'll stand up I'll get this thing unwound."

They were through the village in a flash. Stephen, still on his way to the sick bed he was to console, was caught up and passed without his knowing who was passing. He jumped aside when he heard the noise of their approach behind him—quickly, because he was cautious and they were close, and without looking at them, because motor cycles and the ways of young men who used them were repugnant to him.

Christopher rushed past him with a loud hoot. It sounded defiant. Catherine, rather dazed from its special violence, that her son-in-law

"That's the turning," she called out—she found she had to speak very loud to get heard above the din the thing made—pointing to a road to the right a short distance ahead.

"Is it?" Christopher shouted back and rushed past it.

The noise, the shaking, the wind, and leave your motor-cycle and everything un-derneath you," she said.

"I'll walk with you," And she ran into the side car.

And leave your motor-cycle and everything un-derneath you," she said.

BREAKFAST.

Sliced peaches. Ready-to-eat cereal. Poached eggs on toast. Cerevel sausage. Coffee, cocoa, milk.

LUNCHEON.

Lettuce salad, Southern style. Rolls. Gooseberry tapioca; pudding. Coffee, tea, milk.

DINNER.

Broiled steak, mushroom sauce. Boiled parsley potato. Corn sauté. Sliced tomato salad. Peach pie. Coffee, tea, milk.

LETUCE SALAD, SOUTHERN STYLE.

Arrange one head of lettuce as you like and boil three eggs hard. Take two of the eggs, mash them as fine as you can with a fork; and mix with the mashed eggs a scant teaspoon ground mustard, two tablespoons sweet cream, salt and black pepper to suit taste; one-half cup vinegar, tablespoon butter or salad oil; take the third egg, slice thin and arrange as a garnish. Just about five minutes before serving pour over it the dressing.

GOOSEBERRY TAPIOCA.

Soak two-thirds of a cupful of pearl tapioca for two or three hours in slightly salted water. Drain, put in a double boiler with 1½ cupfuls of boiling water and one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, and cook until the tapioca has absorbed the water. Then add two cupfuls of ripe gooseberries and one cupful of sugar and cook until the berries are tender and broken and the tapioca is transparent. Granulated tapioca may be used in place of the pearl. In this case add the tapioca to the hot water, using three to four cupfuls of the latter.

How to Wash Flannel, Serge and Worsteds.

FLANNEL serge and worsteds should always be washed in lukewarm, soapy water; soap should never be rubbed on them; and they should not be wrung out or they will shrink.

RICH CHERRY PRESERVES.

Wash, stem and stone as many large, ripe, black cherries as are to be done. Allow a pint of sugar to each quart of cherries. Let stand a few minutes in the preserving kettle to draw the juice by constant stirring, then set on the stove. Cook slowly and skim, then cook down until rich and thick. Can in pint or half pint jars and seal.

TOM-BOY SWEET SIFTED PEAS

Some Pointers on Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI

A FAMOUS day has said that the good die young, because the really good in this world are the ones who bother to keep young. No matter what their age in years, they are young because they have kept themselves looking young, and this in turn, acts upon their spirits and keeps the owner young in mind as well as in appearance.

What a happy way of looking on the thing! Of course, it's a woman's duty to keep young, and I'm so glad the men of the age realize this as well as the women. Then, perhaps, husbands will be kinder in their comments on the wife's rolling vigorously about the bedroom floor in the mornings, or earnestly applying the rollingpin to keep her hips in trim. He should not mind if she occasionally slips into the household budget to pay for an extra jar of cold cream or gets home late to prepare his dinner because she has been out sunning her hair in the park or taking a swimming lesson for grace and beauty.

Every husband wants a wife he can be proud to introduce his friends to, whether the friends in question be men or women. Therefore, he should look upon all attempts to aid beauty with a kindly eye—and he should never make facetious remarks about his wife's rolling-pin or ankle reducing exercises if she is inclined to be at all sensitive about them. He should be glad instead that she cares as much as she does about her personal appearance and that he can be proud of her whether they are at home or abroad.

And all this advice to wives holds good for girls who are as yet unmarried. Don't let your families laugh you out of your beauty improvement measures, for if they do, it is they who are behind the times and who should realize that it is your duty and pleasure to make yourself look as well as you possibly can. Of course, like all other things, this practice of beauty should not be run into the ground. That is, don't make yourself a bore to others by talking about your diet or your strenuous exercises. Just stick quietly to them and leave it to others to remark upon the improvement in your appearance.

I once heard a young girl say that it was rather fun to diet, because the subject made such good dinner-table conversation when one was at a party and had to pass by most of the good things. This, my dears, is the wrong idea. Don't talk about it. I realized, upon hearing such a remark, that the girl who made it must be a terrible bore to her companions, and that other things besides too much flesh stood in the way of her and attractiveness.

Vegetable Stuffing.

To one and one-fourth cups of fine soft bread crumbs, add the following vegetables put through the food chopper: two slices of onions, one-fourth cupful canned corn, one cooked carrot, a little green pepper, six in two tablespoonfuls melted butter, the yolk of an egg and season to taste with salt and pepper. Form into flat cakes and use as directed above. This is also an excellent filling for baked stuffed tomatoes or green peppers.

different because it kills them all

The beauty of BLACK FLAG is that it kills every fly, mosquito and roach in the home. Not one escapes its death-dealing ingredient.

BLACK FLAG is the surest killer of flies, mosquitoes and roaches you ever used. It is 100 per cent effective. For Black Flag contains a secret, vegetable ingredient that bugs breathe and die—every bug! It gets them all.

To keep your house free of insect pests, you must kill every one that gets in. Ordinary insecticides kill, at best, only 6 out of every 10 bugs. The four which get away breed the hundreds which return. But Black Flag kills 10 out of every 10. And it kills when all else fails.

Black Flag comes in two forms—powder and liquid. Both are equally deadly to all forms of bugs—but absolutely harmless to humans and animals. Use the form you like best—powder or liquid. At drug, grocery, hardware and department stores.

WONDER WHAT A BLACK BASS THINKS ABOUT.

MIND VS. MATTER.

EFFECT of heat is but a state of mind.

For Calvin Coolidge, statesman, sage and scholar, Reads "Snowbound" while relaxing from the grind.

And consequently wears no wilted collar.

We, too, could put our troubles on the hummer.

By keeping cool with Coolidge in the summer.

So, when sojourning in a torrid clime,

A tale like "Frozen Pirate" never falls you;

Per contra, in the good old winter time,

Read Dante's book, Inferno, for what ails you?

Though wearing bee-vee does or winter flannels,

Direct your thoughts in diametric channels.

In winter or in summer we will find

Relief in relaxations, literary;

So, therefore, we should concentrate the mind

On something to the present state contrary.

No ears will freeze or perspiration splatter.

For, mind is bound to triumph over matter.

WHY NOT?

The man on the sandbox says

why not have the Ringling brothers testify as experts in the monkey business?

In that legal battle Clarence Darrow doesn't propose to be hit below the belt. He wears suspenders.

He may be a little bit out at the elbows, but his suspender will enable him to hold his end up.

See where Washington University got another million. The football team ought to get a kick out of that.

"Forget Career and Gets $256,233 Reward."

Ah, take the cash and let the future go.

With 256,000 smackers one can worry along without a career.

TOO TRUE.

The man on the sandbox says if the price of rubber continues to advance balloon tires will become so inflated that they will cost as much as an auto.

Even the baseball fans can't afford to stretch in the seventh inning.

After holding the Giants to four hits, Duster Mails still contented without fear of successful contradiction that he was the best pitcher in the world.

And when the Duster is not the worst pitcher in the world he comes pretty near being the best.

EVIDENCE VICTIM OF 'DESERT DUEL' WAS MURDERED

California Police Theory Is That Kirk Was Slain
After Being Gagged and
His Hands Tied.

STAINED KNOTTED
NECKTIE FOUND

Army Belt and a Silk Stocking Discovered Near Body—Rivalry Over
Woman Probable Cause.

By the Associated Press.
HAWAII, July 21.—Evidence that H. Kirk, former Honolulu photographer, was murdered with his hands tied, not shot in a duel, and that rivalry over the affections of a woman may have prompted his murder and the suicide of John Truden, whose body was found at Jacumba last Monday, is being scrutinized by police investigators today.

A letter, written by Truden before he killed himself, told of a duel at 12 paces with 38-caliber Colt "purchaser" for the purpose in San Diego, and explained that since he had been victorious in the exchange of bullets with Kirk, his enemy for six years, he decided upon him to write him to the end by putting a bullet through his own brain.

Late yesterday, however, the City Marshal of Imperial found a knotted silk stocking, a knotted necktie and an army belt, all stained and concealed near the spot where Kirk's body was found. Whips of hair resembling Kirk's, which apparently had been cut from the body of some one who had been gagged with the stocking while his hands were tied with the necktie and his feet bound together with the belt. The officer said he was satisfied Kirk met death, bound and gagged.

In the Honolulu man's coat was found a letter from a woman in that city dealing at some length with a past love affair with Kirk, and containing the sentence: "Our affair can go on no longer." Truden was a former marine, but whether he ever was stationed in Honolulu or ever lived there as a civilian had not been determined early today.

Kirk, it was learned, had packed his belongings and made arrangements to depart for Honolulu a few hours before death canceled his plans.

"Must Pay for Life I Took."
Coroner H. C. Kelly of San Diego today made public two letters which were left by Truden. They had been addressed to Truden's brother, Vincent Truden, a former Lake, Mich. One of them, dated July 18, reads:

"Dear brother Vincent:
When you receive this letter I will be among those dead, by my own hand. Just today I killed a man whom I met several years ago. Our argument needed settling with guns, which I purchased a week ago today in San Diego, Cal.

"I left him dead on the field of battle and as the law of compensation is in full working order, I must pay for the life I took.

"My affairs of finance are rather muddled, so I am going to ask you to settle my accounts here. Imperial Hotel management will dispose of my personal belongings as they may. Be sure, if the State of Michigan bonus war service is paid to my estate, you will kindly send it to mother.

"Good luck."
"J. TRUDEN."
The other letter, dated July 19, at Jacumba, in this county, requests Vincent to break the "accident" to their mother and sister and bears this postscript:

"If my enemy, whom I left dead, has any judicious debts in Imperial, will you please make them good, also, for me?"

"J. T."

Kirk Former Orchestra Leader in Honolulu Amusement Park.
HONOLULU, July 21.—H. Kirk came to Honolulu three years ago as leader of the orchestra at an amusement park, where he remained until the company conducting the park was declared bankrupt a year later. He then established a photographic gallery at Waikiki Beach, a suburb of Honolulu, which was destroyed by fire in October last. The studio, which was heavily insured, was a complete loss.

The insurance companies at first refused to pay the insurance, and Kirk sued for $11,500. A compromise was reached and the matter settled out of court March 21 last and Kirk sailed for the mainland the next day.
